What reason have we for tabulating the events of 1925-1926 in this volume? Our earnest desire is that you may enjoy the book at present, and that someday you may look back upon the happenings as recorded in this year book and through recollection enjoy once more the associations and events of the many happy days spent at our beloved D. H. S. If in this way we can bring you back through years of time and miles of space, the many hours of patient endeavor spent in compiling this book will have been worth while.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

SOUTH SIDE

We entered D. H. S. in the fall of '22. Of course I don't mean to boast but we certainly were a lighter shade of green than most Freshies. Lyle Boyer proved an able leader with LaVon Eberle as Vice-President while Miss Marks was our class advisor. Early in our career we showed our ability by giving a first class Freshman program.

The next fall we came back full of pep and vim. This year Kenneth Thorne was elected President and Gus Bondi Vice-President. Miss Cordell served as our advisor.

As full fledged Juniors we selected "Buns" Kerst and Anna Lubbering for President and Vice-President respectively. This year was our banner year. With Miss Velma Fay White as class advisor and director of the play "His Uncle's Niece", we again proved our dramatic ability.

The Senior year, a red-letter year, was marked by the winning of the Rock River Championship, the Junior-Senior Banquet, parties and the play, "Daddy Long Legs", was presented late in the spring with great success. Miss Maroe was director of the play and Mr. Lancaster was our class advisor. Charles Keyes was our Senior President.

By this time we have all grown old and seasoned and our ranks hold many star athletes and other notables. We are sorry to leave D. H. S. and will forever treasure the memories of the days spent in the old school.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

NORTH SIDE

In September, 1922, the good ship, Class of 1926, left the pleasant harbor of grammar school, and started on a long four year journey. The voyage has been, as most voyages are, pleasant sometimes and sometimes filled with hardships and difficulties—but the object has been attained. Three times after the voyage started, the ship sailed into different harbors and laid up for a three months rest. Then taking on new directors, a new pilot, and a new supply of books, it started forth again to acquire for every passenger a large knowledge of the treasures known to be hidden between the two covers of each book.

Gordon McNicol was chosen for the first Pilot (otherwise known as President). Lyle Prescott was First Mate and Helen Miller was chosen as Purser and Official Recorder of the Ship's Log.

In 1923, as Sophomores, the Pilot was William Johnson; Mary Evelyn Miller was First Mate; and Harold Rorer, Purser and Recorder. The class enjoyed a fish fry at White Rock. Later they held a sleigh ride party. This was most exciting because the bob tipped over and spilled all the riders in the snow. They ate supper at Lennox's. Then some of the party decided to walk home. They got lost and didn't get home till the wee, small hours.

Harold Rorer, Fred Hofmann, and Louise Brewster were chosen as Pilot, First Mate, and Purser and Recorder for 1924. Their party, given in April, was very successful, as was their first play, "Am I Intruding?" The banquet which they gave in May at Sterling, for the graduating class, was as joyous and as sorrowful as such entertainments usually are.

In 1926, their retiring year, Helen Miller was elected to the position of Pilot; Fred Hofmann, First Mate; and Katherine Sullivan, Purser and Recorder. Their second play "The Mummy and the Mumps", was very successful. The Ship's directors were as follows:

JUNIOR

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

SOUTH SIDE

In October after successfully surviving two "Harum-scarum" years, the Class of '27 settled down to work. We held a meeting and elected the following officers:

MICHAEL KINNEY	President
ALICE POWELL	Vice-President
FRANCES CAMPBELL	Secretary-Treasurer
ALBERTA PETERSON	Delegate to Student Council
MISS VELMA FAY WHITE	Class Advisor

The Junior-Senior party went off with a "bang", good orchestra, decorations, eats and everything that goes with a good party. The Juniors and Seniors hired an orchestra for the dance after the Football Banquet, given in the South Side gymnasium. We have tried to conduct all class meetings in Parliamentary order complying with Parliamentary law. A committee was appointed to select the Junior class rings and pins. There were also two candy sales at the basketball games to help pay for the party expenses. The Junior play, another project of the Junior class, was a great success.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

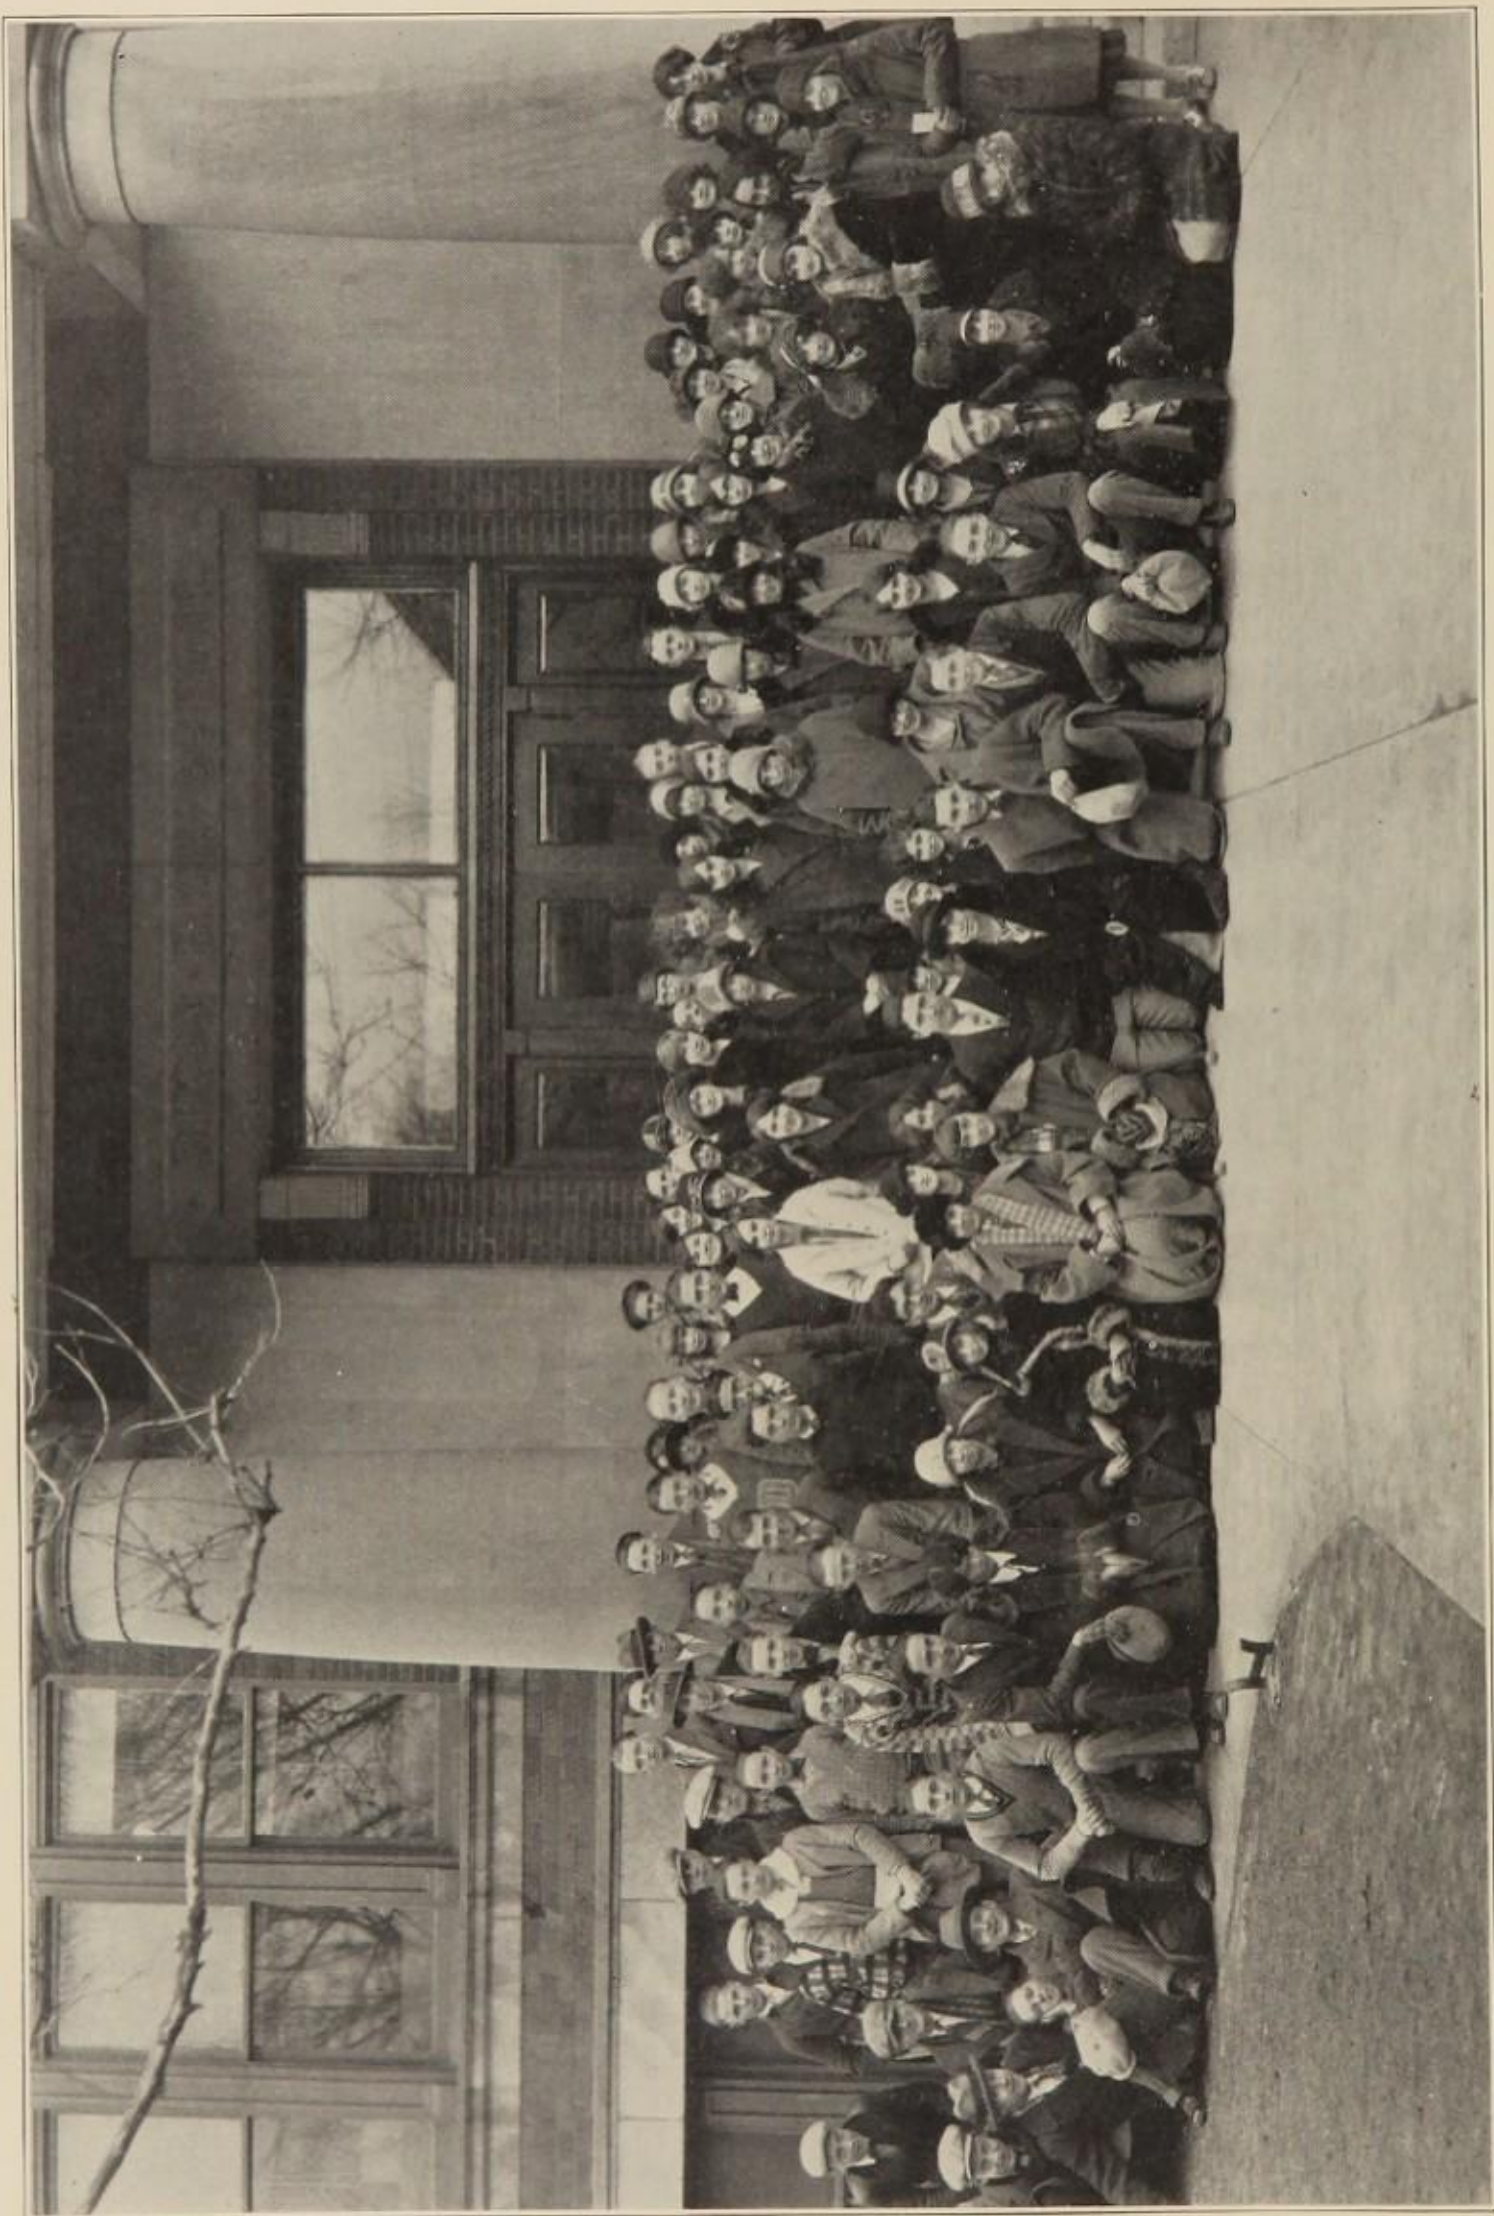

NORTH SIDE

In 1923 the present class entered as green Freshies. They elected Thomas Holahan, President; Carl Buchner, Vice-President; Gene Campbell as Secretary-Treasurer, with Mr. Kietzman as class advisor. The most notable event in the Freshman year was the Freshman-Sophomore Bazaar.

Then the next year the reins were placed in the hands of Lawrence Beede, President; Oliver Rogers, Vice-President; Janice Barker, Secretary-Treasurer, and Miss Miller as class advisor. The Sophs gave their class party on St. Valentine's Day.

This year some of the officers are famous athletes. John Kennedy, President; Erma Newman, Vice-President, and Oliver Rogers again in office as Secretary-Treasurer. Early in the season the class had a delightful picnic at the Pines. Mr. Frazer was chosen class advisor.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

SOUTH SIDE

We entered high school as Freshies in 1924. Surviving our first lively year with courage, we entered our Sophomore year not lacking in pep or spirits.

At our first class meeting, we chose Miss Patterson as class advisor. The other officers were elected as follows:

EDWARD HILLIKER	President
MAZIE JOE FORRESTER	Vice-President
SHIRLEY MILLER	Secretary-Treasurer
BERNICE LELAND	Delegate to Student Council

Our class colors are blue and gold.

The first party occurred in October and, needless to mention, was very well attended. Our second one which was held in the spring with the Freshmen was also a real "humdinger".

We all look back to our Sophomore year with fond memories and are looking forward to the Junior year with pleasure.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

NORTH SIDE

After a highly enjoyable three months' vacation the Freshmen of 1924 again convened. They were not now, however, Freshmen—but Sophomores of '25.

They soon re-organized and elected the following capable officers:

MISS HELEN CLEARY	Class Advisor
RONALD REAGAN	President
ETHEL CRAWFORD	Vice-President
JOHN DAWSON	Secretary-Treasurer
MARGARET CLEAVER	Delegate to Student Council

The first social event of the year was a class picnic held at Lowell Park in the latter part of September.

Several candy and sandwich sales were held by the class, to which all members willingly contributed. The proceeds of these sales went towards financing the annual dancing party.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

SOUTH SIDE HIGH SCHOOL

After school work was well under way, an enthusiastic body of Freshmen met on September 23, 1925. Miss Heinle was chosen class advisor and the other officers are as follows:

LOREN LAIR	President
ROBERT KENAGA	Vice-President
RUTH LEYDIG	Secretary-Treasurer
EVELYN SHAULIS	Delegate to Student Council

The Freshman party was a great success. Dorothy Nelson who wore a Pierrot suit and Charles Harvey who was dressed in a beggar's outfit, won the prizes.

May this class always be true to its colors: its blue for valor and its white for purity.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

NORTH SIDE HIGH SCHOOL

It was the fall of '25 that our class of forty-eight Freshmen entered the portals of the North Dixon High School. We were worse than usual when it came to attending all classes except those prescribed for us, but in time we became adjusted and elected these officers for the year:

WALTER WATKINS	President
DOROTHY PRESCOTT	Vice-President
KENNETH HAINES	Secretary-Treasurer
MISS MILLER	Class Advisor

We are looking forward to our remaining three years in high school and hope to be fortunate enough to add our quota of heroes to the Hall of Fame.

ORGANIZATIONS

HIGH SCHOOL PARENT-TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

Our high school Parent-Teachers' Association is indeed deserving of a place in our list of organizations. This association is not a pupil organization, but is a group of parents and teachers earnestly endeavoring to bring about those things which will be a benefit to pupils, school, and community. Our own local association is one of many such organizations throughout the state.

This year the association is doing excellent work under the direction and able leadership of the following executive committee:

MRS. GEORGE DIXON	President
MRS. BARRY LENNON	Vice-President
MRS. FREYA LAZIER	Secretary
MRS. FLORENCE P. WHITE	Treasurer
PRINCIPAL A. H. LANCASTER	Members ex-officio
PRINCIPAL B. KEITZMAN

The attendance at the meetings has been greatly increased this year. As a result of the increased attendance and of the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior discussion meetings much good has been accomplished.

The largest attendance for any meeting was at the evening meeting on January 28, 1926. At that time we had the opportunity of hearing our State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Francis G. Blair, who gave a most interesting and inspiring talk, which will long be remembered by all who heard him.

Probably the most outstanding feature of the Parent-Teachers' Association, in the minds of the pupils, was the high school visiting day. Because of the hearty cooperation of parents, teachers, and pupils, our visiting day was a decided success, and many are anxious that the popular idea may remain with us that Visiting Day may become an annual event.

The unusual success of this organization is the result of the untiring efforts of the members of the executive committee.

THE HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Our recipe: Take two parts of unselfishness and one part of patience and work together. Add plenty of industry, lighten with good spirits, and sweeten with kindness. Put in smiles as thick as plums in plum pudding and bake by the warmth which streams from a lovely heart. This is the recipe that the girls of the Home Economics Club give for every "Ideal Home".

The first meeting was a "get together" and the girls ate weenies and then more weenies.

The third Tuesday in each month the Club gives a short program. The project for the year is an "Ideal Home" scrap book.

Much credit is due to the advisors, Miss Cleta White and Mrs. Bort. The officers are as follows:

DOROTHY JANE DODD
 MARIAN HAHN
 HELEN CONDON
 MARY BONDI

President
Vice-President
Secretary-Treasurer
Sergeant-at-Arms

D. J. D., '26.

GIRLS' HI-Y

The girls' Hi-Y club held their first business meeting in October. The officers elected were:

LOUISE BREWSTER	President
ELOISE RICHARDSON	Vice-President
ALETHEA HUBBELL	Secretary
ESTELLE HOLLY	Treasurer

Twenty-one new members were taken into the club to fill the membership of thirty-five. Only Juniors and Seniors are eligible for membership.

The officers for the second Semester were:

MILDRED LEAKE	President
HELEN MILLER	Vice-President
MARION BAHEN	Secretary
KATHERINE SULLIVAN	Treasurer

The faculty advisors are Miss Velma Fay White and Miss Cora Miller. The other faculty members are Miss Cleta White and Miss Heinle and Mrs. Lazier.

The meetings are held at the Y. M. C. A. the second and fourth Mondays of every month at four-thirty.

Every meeting has been enjoyed and all are looking forward to "guest night" and the entertaining of the Boys' Hi-Y.

The club has girls' Hi-Y pins this year.

A. H., '26.

THE BOYS' HI-Y CLUB

The Hi-Y Club held its first meeting of the school year on October 1, 1925. At this meeting the following officers were elected:

GORDON McNICOL	President
REINHOLD KERST	Vice-President
CHARLES KEYES	Treasurer
NEIL REAGAN	Secretary

On the night of November 17, the club held an initiation ceremony for the new members. On December 12, the club gave the annual Football Banquet. The evening of January 13, the Hi-Y entertained the Sterling Hi-Y and their lady friends.

The officers for the second semester were:

REINHOLD KERST	President
WILLIAM JOHNSON	Vice-President
LYLE PRESCOTT	Treasurer
GUS BONDI	Secretary

The meetings of the Hi-Y club in 1925-26 were successful in every way. Many fine talks were given to the club by Dixon business men. Several men who have traveled extensively gave the club interesting addresses on their travels.

CINEAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Cinean Literary Society is an organization of Freshmen and Sophomores. The first meeting was held on October 27, 1925 and the following officers were elected:

HELEN MURPHY	President
LUCY BOVEY	Vice-President
ROBERT CAHILL	Secretary-Treasurer
HUGH HARMON	Sergeant-at-Arms
ROBERT PALMER
MRS. BORT
MISS HEINLE	Advisors
MISS ARMINGTON
MISS HARTGERINK

The Cinean Literary Society gets its name from Cinean, a Thessalian who was chief advisor of the king Pyrrhus in 280 B. C. Its aim is to create an interest in music as well as in literature.

The society meets on the last Tuesday of each month. The members are divided into four groups and each monthly meeting a group prepares the program. The programs are in keeping with the month in which the meeting is held. Unusual interest has been displayed this year because of the society pins.

Darling!

JOYCE KILMER LITERARY SOCIETY

The re-organization of the Joyce Kilmer Literary Society for the year of 1925-26 was on the thirtieth of September. Miss Maroe who so successfully guided it last year, was kind enough to undertake it again, with Miss Brummett to assist her.

The officers of the Society are as follows:

RUTH WIEMAN

RUSSELL DUNAVAN

VERA MAE POOL

WAYNE WOLFE

President

Vice-President

Secretary-Treasurer

Sergeant-at-Arms

Short programs in keeping with the occasion were given at each of the meetings held on the last Tuesday of each month.

The aim which was to stimulate literary activities and give experience in public appearance was successfully carried out much to the promotion and gain of its members.

Many interesting and educational programs were carried out by the members. A rollicking comedy was a part of a very good entertainment while many talks improved and widened our spheres. A few in the Society are musically inclined and with their help we also developed our appreciation of that fine art.

Every Junior and Senior have benefitted and thoroughly enjoyed being a member of such a society.

THE SOPHOMORE DRAMATIC SOCIETY

The Sophomore Dramatic Club had its beginning during November of 1924. A constitution was adopted and officers elected. At the end of the school year the play "Too Much of a Good Thing" was given before the school body and the Parent Teachers Association. The play demonstrated the real benefit the members were receiving from the organization. The society re-organized this year and elected the following officers:

ETHEL CRAWFORD	President
JOHN DAWSON	Secretary-Treasurer

Twenty-five Freshmen were taken into the club. The meetings held every other Wednesday afternoon, consist of essays, music and occasional debates.

M. C., '28.

DRAMATIC CLUB

This year, the sixth year in the history of the Dramatic Club, is proving very pleasant.

In the second week of school the old members met and set a date for tryouts and elected the following officers:

KATHERINE SULLIVAN	President
DONALD CREWS	Vice-President
ELEANOR HENNESSY	Secretary-Treasurer
MR. FRAZER	Faculty Advisor

The members were divided into groups of six. The third Tuesday of every month one group puts on a program. Besides being unanimous in their liking for the club the students have derived good from the training obtained in getting the plays ready to produce and in being able to perform the class plays in a more capable manner.

E. H., '26.

THE GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club composes one of the largest groups organized for outside activities in the school. Including students from the North and South Sides over one hundred twenty-five girls have attended rehearsals.

The direction is under Mrs. Rorick whose second year has proved even more successful than the first.

The Misses Beulah Hey and Dorothy Prescott are the accompanists for the North Side and Miss Alice Powell for the South Side.

The Glee Club has made several appearances and gave an Operetta, "El Bandito", March 12, which was especially well given.

H. M., '26.

THE BOYS' GLEE CLUB

The Boys' Glee Club was organized in the fall by Mrs. Rorick. Later on both the Boys' Glee Club and the Girls' started practice on the operetta "El Bandito", which was very successfully staged under the direction of Mrs. Rorick.

Last year a picked group of twenty-five members took part in the District Glee Club Meet at Freeport. In this our boys won second place which made them second only to two other Glee Clubs in the state.

THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT

The Agriculture Club consists of all boys attending High School who are taking or have taken a course in Agriculture. It is conducted by the regular officers who are elected each year by its members. The officers for the school ending June 1926, were:

First Semester

ALVAH DREW	President
WARREN BUCKALOO	Vice-President
KENNETH DETWEILER	Secretary

Second Semester

ROBERT BOLLMAN	President
JOHN STANLEY	Vice-President
BYRON WADSWORTH	Secretary

Meetings are held once a month, at which moving pictures on interesting topics are shown and short talks are given by members of the club.

The "Ag" Club conducted the Annual Seed Corn Show and Contest at the High School on December 8. Mr. Roberts, of DeKalb, was the judge. Mr. Charles E. Keyes of Dixon, donated fifty dollars in cash to be distributed as prizes among the persons showing the best ten ear samples of yellow and white corn. Germination tests of the entireties showed that about fifty per cent of the seed corn was dead. This contest proved to be worth hundreds of dollars to farmers of this community by showing the seriousness of the seed corn situation.

As a result the Agriculture Club is testing free of charge, all corn which is to be planted this spring by the fathers of the club members. This, it is hoped, will illustrate the necessity of testing seed corn and will help this community towards a better corn yield next year.

From February 15 to 17 a Tractor and Gasoline Engine Short Course was conducted for the benefit of young men from the farm who were unable to attend the regular High School Course.

Mr. I. G. Morrison, an expert repairman, was in charge of the school which enjoyed the largest enrollment of any organization of its kind in Illinois this year.

I. Mc.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is composed of the president and one representative from each class. Its greatest task is that of keeping up the school's pep and good sportsmanship. Due to the efforts of the organization, the pep meetings held before the Rock Falls and Thanksgiving football games were carried out. Visitors' day, February 23, was also discussed and approved of by the Council.

THE GIRLS' GYM CLASSES

A chance visitor straying into the South Side Gym on Wednesday or Friday or into the Kindergarten Hall on the North Side on Monday or Thursday afternoon would hear a confused chattering and perhaps recognize a few of these cries. "Where are my gym shoes?" "Did anyone see my tie?" "Do we play basketball today?" "Wish we could play that every time." "Oh, I like the games, and dancing, and the exercises best." "Don't you hope we go on a hike next week?"

At 3:45 our visitor would hear the signal given for lining up and after that see a lively three-quarters of an hour spent in basketball between the class teams, games, exercises, and folk dancing.

There are about seventy-five girls enrolled in the gym classes of the two schools. Miss Peterson is the director.

DRAMATICS SOCIETY

DRAMATICS

“AM I INTRUDING?”

On April 24th and 25th, 1925, the Junior Class presented at Kindergarten Hall the mystery comedy, “Am I Intruding?”

The lines were well interpreted by all, and everyone of the cast deserves equal credit for the time and work which it took to perfect it.

The cast of characters in order of appearance was:

Mrs. Hastings, a Housekeeper	Rachel Kennedy
Blair Hoover, the Adventurer	Richard McMullen
Ernest Rathburn, Jane's Secretary	Arthur Hall
Marjorie Vare, the Elder Daughter	Helen Miller
Dickie Waldron, a Romanticist	Gordon McNicol
Mona, the Maid	Louise Brewster
Horace Vare, the Father	William Johnson
Violet Vare, the Younger Daughter	Alethea Hubbell
Peter, Devoted to Vi	Fred Hofmann
Dora, a Friend of Vi's	Eleanor Hennessy
Jerald Mays, Jerry from Sage Creek	Lyle Prescott
Jane, Vare's Niece	Katherine Sullivan

PLACE—The entire action occurs in the living room of the Vare home on Long Island, at some distance from New York City.

TIME—Present.

SYNOPSIS OF ACTS

ACT I—A spring morning. Jerry intrudes.

ACT II—Late the next day. Jerry takes a hand.

ACT III—The following morning. The thread is untangled.

“Am I Intruding?” is a thoroughly modern comedy causing laughter galore, based on a mystery plot that holds the attention from start to finish and comes out quite differently from what anyone in the audience is expecting.

The action hinges around the efforts of Horace Vare, a wealthy business man, to keep from being frozen out of the Bluebird Motors Corporation, in which he is a heavy stockholder. Blair Hoover, an adventurer, acquires some notes of Vare's when the latter is short of cash and threatens to ruin him unless he will sell his Bluebird stock at a low figure.

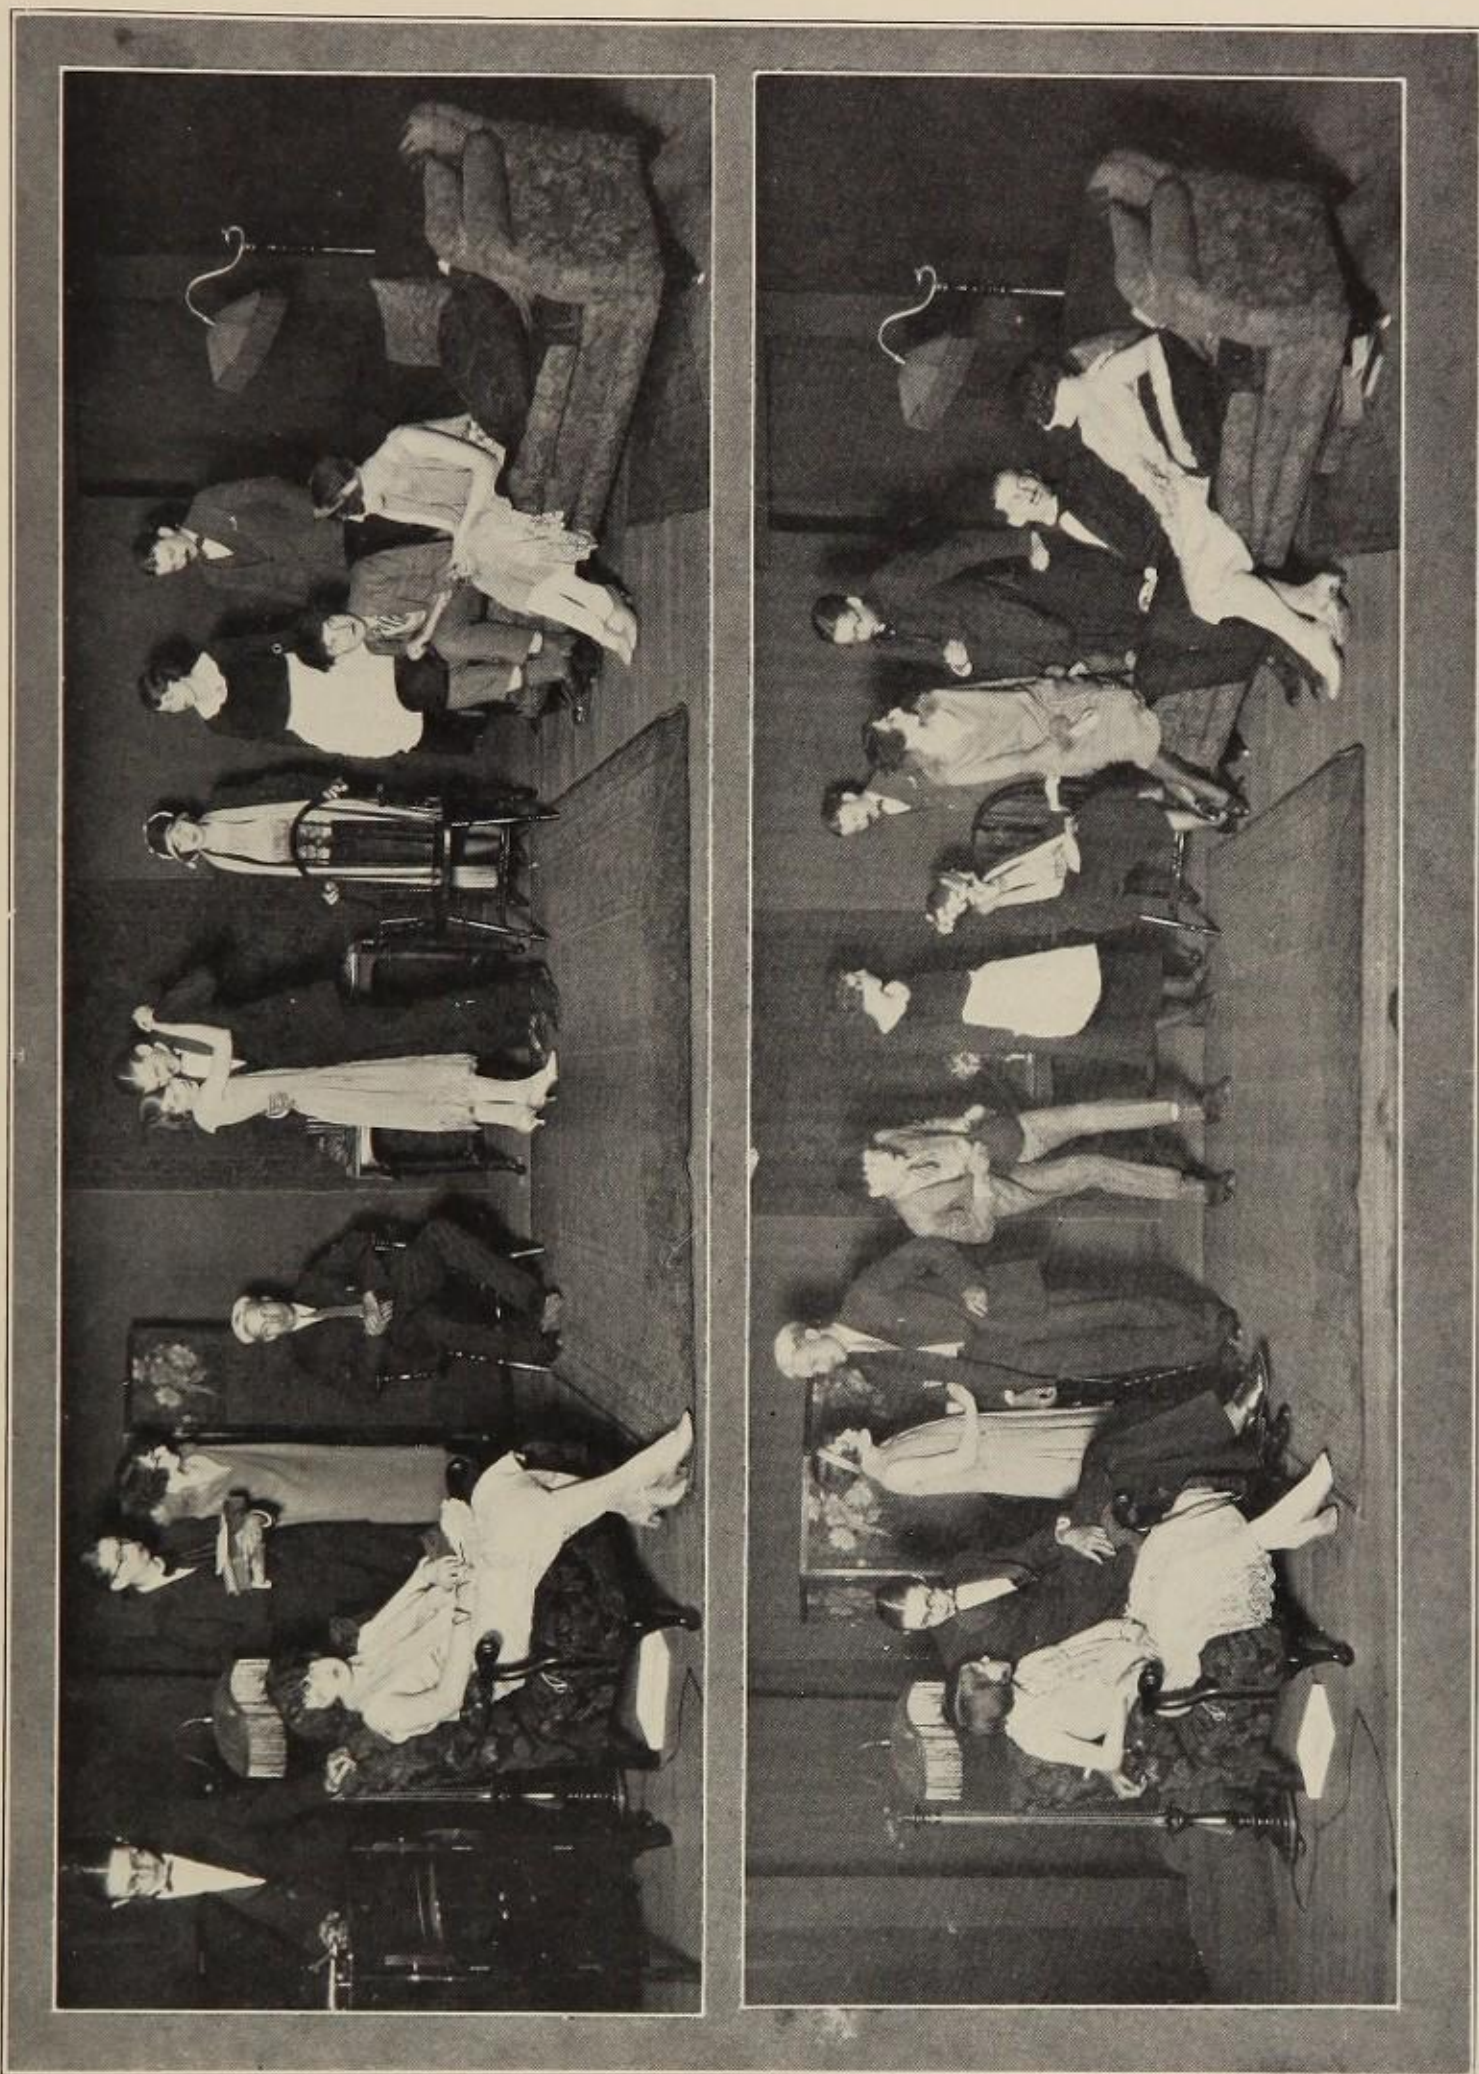

Vare has been forced into a tight corner financially when Jerry, eccentric son of his comrade of years ago, appears on the scene. Jerry is a regular rustic tornado and sets out to save the stock for Vare.

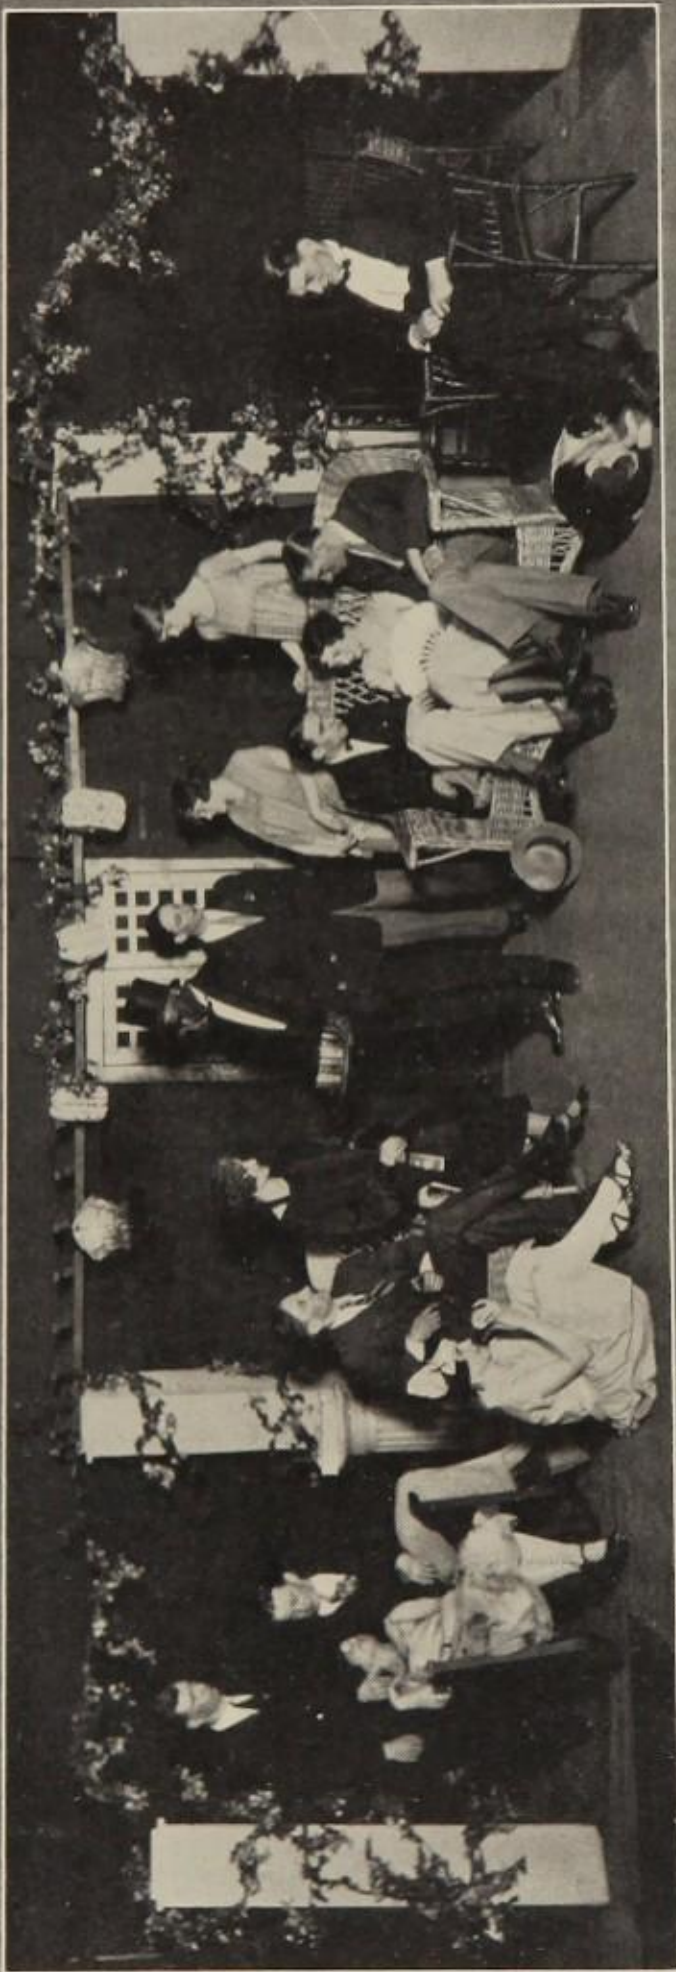

Besides his whirlwind courtship of Margie, Jerry furnishes much amusement for Margie's slangy sister Vi and the latter's bosom friend Dora, who is “tho dithcouraged over her love affairth”; and he upsets the stately demeanor of Vare's studious niece Jane, and her serious minded secretary, Ernest. Meanwhile he wins the admiration of Dickie Waldron, who is busy raising a moustache, and of Peter, Vi's schoolboy sweetheart. He flees from the winning wiles of Mona, the pert little French Maid, and keeps his eagle eye on Mrs. Hastings, the mysterious woman in black.

The credit for the direction of this play belongs to B. J. Frazer, and the Junior class was thankful to him for making the play a success.

The others who helped toward making this play a success were:

Business Managers	James Ketchen, George Sproul
Stage Manager	Grace Stevens
Property Manager	Mitchell Dollmeyer
Assistant Director	Mary Goodsell
	H. M., '26.

THE SENIOR CLASS PLAY 1925

"Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington, was the play chosen by the class of 1925 as their Senior Class play. It was well given, in the high school assembly, to a large audience on the first of May. One cannot give the cast and Miss Maroe, too much credit. The fine acting showed the excellent training received.

The story centered about one William Baxter and his many loves, especially the affair with the far-famed summer girl, so petite with her entrancing baby-talking. His troubles, both humorous and pathetic, most of which are caused by his jam-eating, tattle-telling sister and misunderstanding parents.

The cast in order of appearance were:

Mr. Baxter	Charles Kerz
Jane	Louise Murphy
Mrs. Baxter	Helen Tradewell
Wm. Sylvanus Baxter	Vincent Slothower
Johnnie Watson	James Fanning
May Parcher	Capitola Akeman

The High School Glee Clubs produced “El Bandito”, a Spanish operetta, very successfully the 12th of March. Mrs. Rorick and Miss Brummett, the directors, are deserving of much praise.

This charming musical comedy centered about a brigand and an artist who looked alike. Both admired the popular Agrilla who had a ferocious lover in an army captain. The governor comes to capture the bandit whom Agrilla wishes to save because she thinks him to be the artist and because he saved her brother. The jealous captain shoots the artist believing him to be the disguised bandit but the artist walks in, much to Agrilla’s joy. It is explained that the bandit is the artist’s twin brother. The humorous touch is supplied by the vain governor’s opinion of himself.

The characters and assistants were as follows:

Night Watchman	Clarence Sproul
Don Manual, an Artist visiting Antiquera	Donald Crews
Juan, Don Manual’s Servant	Gerald Sproul
Bartolo, Landlord of San Fernando Pasada	William Rhodes
Donna Cyrilla, Belle of Antiquera	Mabel Smith
Don Lozonno, Captain in the Spanish Army	Thomas Erwin
Tona, a Soldier	Orrin Peterson
Jose Marie, a famous Brigand. Played by the same one who plays the role of Don Manuel.
Carlos, Cyrilla’s Brother	Richard Lievan
Zaida, a Maid at Bartolo’s Pasada	Mildred Petit
Don Grandeoso, Governor of Andalusia	John Cahill
Chorus of Villagers, Soldiers, Brigands, etc.
Stage Director	Harold Coss
Business Manager	Russell Dunavan
Dramatic Director	Wahnetah Brummett
Director of Dancing	Frances Campbell
Accompanist	Alice Powell
Music Director	Bertha Rorick

‘ ‘ AGATHA ’ S AUNT ’ ’

On March 26, 1926, the South Side Juniors produced “Agatha’s Aunt”, a three act comedy. It was received very enthusiastically by a large audience.

Much of the credit for the success of the performance is due to Miss Velma Fay White, the director.

The members of the cast, in the order in which they spoke, were:

Zaida Finch	Eleanor Clayton
Jim Doolittle	Henry Wilson
Deacon Wiggins	John Cahill
Howard Kent	Clark Duffy
Phemie Lidd	Mildred Petit
Agatha Kent	Dorothy Weatherwax
Burton Forbes	Harry Wienman
Ridgely Warren	Michael Kinney
Mrs. Knox	Alice Powell
Julia Studley	Frances Campbell
Business Manager	Malcolm Brown
Property Manager	Ruth Wienman
Stage Manager	Raymond Hefley

The scene was the living room of Oak Knolls, the Kent homestead, near New York City. The first act took place in June, the second and third in August.

Agatha Kent, a girl of nineteen, lives at Oak Knolls with Howard, her step-brother; Zaida Finch, his aunt; and Phemie Lidd, a servant girl. Agatha rents some rooms for the summer to Burton Forbes, a man from the city. He believes Agatha to be her great aunt, whom he once knew, and, since he is blind, she assumes that character so that he will come; when his friend, Ridgely Warren, comes to visit him, she pretends to be Hepsibah Diggs, a hired girl.

Meanwhile, Miss Finch receives proposals of marriage from Jim Doolittle and Deacon Wiggins. She cannot decide which one to choose for several months, then—the Deacon tells he that he has just married someone else, so Miss Finch accepts Jim.

About this time Julia Studley, Forbe’s fiancée, comes with her aunt, Mrs. Knox, to see Forbes. They discover that Agatha is a young girl,—tell Forbes that he has been duped, and ask him to return to the city. Warren, who is in love with Agatha, offers to sell the farm for her, and returns to the city. Forbes regains his sight. He tells Agatha of his love for her and learns that she loves him.

The North Side Dramatic Club, in order that it might be better known among the student body, presented on February twentieth the play “Slats”. Under the direction of Mr. B. J. Frazer, it was a great success.

The plot centers around “Dal” Remington, a college man, who seemingly is the notorious “Raffles” that has been terrorizing the town by always robbing guests of valuables at fashionable parties, when he is caught with a gold case that disappeared at the Philips’ house party. Many exciting events ensue due to the meddling of a correspondence-school detective and the work of a real one who thinks his reputation is made. When all evidence points that “Dal” must be the real “Raffles” it is announced by the college men that “Dal” had to steal something as this “Raffles” as an initiation stunt to enter the Alpha Phi Fraternity and could say nothing to vindicate himself till after eleven o’clock. The detectives refused to believe this story, but just at that time the real “Raffles” is caught, all is cleared, and the story ends happily.

The cast was as follows:

“Dal” (“Slats”) Remington	William Rhodes
“Steve” Ward, Amateur Detective	Oliver Rogers
Foster, a Real One	Barry Lennon
Rowland Philips	Donald Crews
“Bubbles” Clinton	Paul Grove
Ross	Thomas Holahan
Baxter	Lawrence Beede
Jean Philips	Rachel Kennedy
Pauline Winthrop, Her Niece	Jean Wallace
Catherine Davis	Louise Brewster

SOCIETY

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

SOUTH SIDE

In June, 1925, the Juniors and Seniors met at the Bluebird Inn for the usual banquet which accentuates the Seniors parting and welcomes in a new class to the final honors.

After a very tasty dinner a novel radio program was given in which many helpful as well as entertaining speeches were announced in a true broadcasting fashion.

Later dancing in the tea room until the usual hour gave an informal ending to an evening long remembered by those who attended.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

NORTH SIDE

The Junior-Senior Banquet of 1925 was held the latter part of May at the Lincoln Tavern in Sterling. After a delicious dinner was served, Gordon McNicol acted as toastmaster, and several splendid toasts and responses were given. Then the Junior Prophecy and the Senior Will were read causing a great deal of laughter.

George Sproul gave several cornet solos which were greatly enjoyed by all. After several talks by members of the Faculty the program was concluded.

THE JUNIOR-SENIOR PARTY

SOUTH SIDE

We have become used to rain at all Junior-Senior parties so the party this fall was no exception. The novelly decorated "gym" mocked all attempts of the weather to dampen the spirits of the hilarious merrymakers.

With Darby's orchestra to drown the pitter-patter, we all danced with genuine enjoyment. It seemed everyone was there in spite of the weather and were having a regular time.

The short program was just a continuation of the evening's successful entertaining. The participants in it deserved much credit and the delighted audience gave full vent to their feelings in the applause.

I think that we must judge the success by the reluctance with which we departed.

THE SOPHOMORE HOP

SOUTH SIDE

Rain! Rain! Rain! but that did not dismay the jolly Sophomores. In spite of the frowning face of the weather man, they gathered in the gayly decorated gym on the evening of October 21st for their annual fall party.

The gym was beautifully decorated in autumn colors with grim pumpkins grinning out upon the revelers from under leaves and cornstalks.

A short program added much to the enjoyment of the evening. Who would have thought Paul Brookner could have been so shy and the "Sophies" so collegiate? Of course, everyone danced to the tuneful melodies played by the orchestra.

Punch was served to the thirsty merrymakers and they were reluctant to leave the happy scene at the appointed hour.

THE FRESHIES HALLOWE'EN HOP

SOUTH SIDE

It was October 20th that the Freshman class met in the gayly decorated gym to revel the "Hallowe'en Spirits of 1925". Oh, what fun we had! There were ghosts, witches, clowns, Japs, Turks, gypsies, Hawaiians, Pilgrims, and even modest maids of old.

The many masks and great varieties of costumes, caused much amusement; to some however, embarrassing moments and discomforts, as their costumes would not permit them to participate in all the frolics of the evening.

It was not quite as easy for the faculty to choose the best costume as it would be to determine the value of a recitation. We, however, agree with their choice, Charles Harvey as Raggedy Andy and Dorothy Nelson as Periette were the winners of the Honor Hats.

Did we dance? Yes, indeed! as Joe Ryan and his famous orchestra played those bewitching melodies.

Did we have refreshments? Absolutely! We munched apples and doughnuts, the typical Hallowe'en food. Then the revelers with a sigh returned to their favorite haunts.

HI-Y BANQUET 1926

On the 13th of January, 1926, the Dixon Hi-Y Club was host to the Sterling Hi-Y Club and their lady friends at a Banquet given at the Y. M. C. A. Following the Banquet a short program was given composed partly of talks, and also two delightful solos given by Mr. Kietzman. Voting for the Clubs' best looking, fattest and thinnest members, etc., caused much laughter when the results of the voting were read. Chorus singing led by Mr. Kietzman furnished a great deal of fun between courses of the dinner.

JUNIOR CLASS PARTY

NORTH SIDE

The Junior class of '27 gave their annual dancing party in the Kindergarten Hall, December 11, 1925. The decorations were in purple and white. Darby's orchestra furnished the music for the evening.

For those who did not dance, there were cross-word puzzles, and prizes were awarded for those completing their puzzle. Miss Cora Miller was one of the fortunate ones.

Ice cream and cake were served to the large crowd of pupils and teachers who attended.

THE FOOTBALL BANQUET

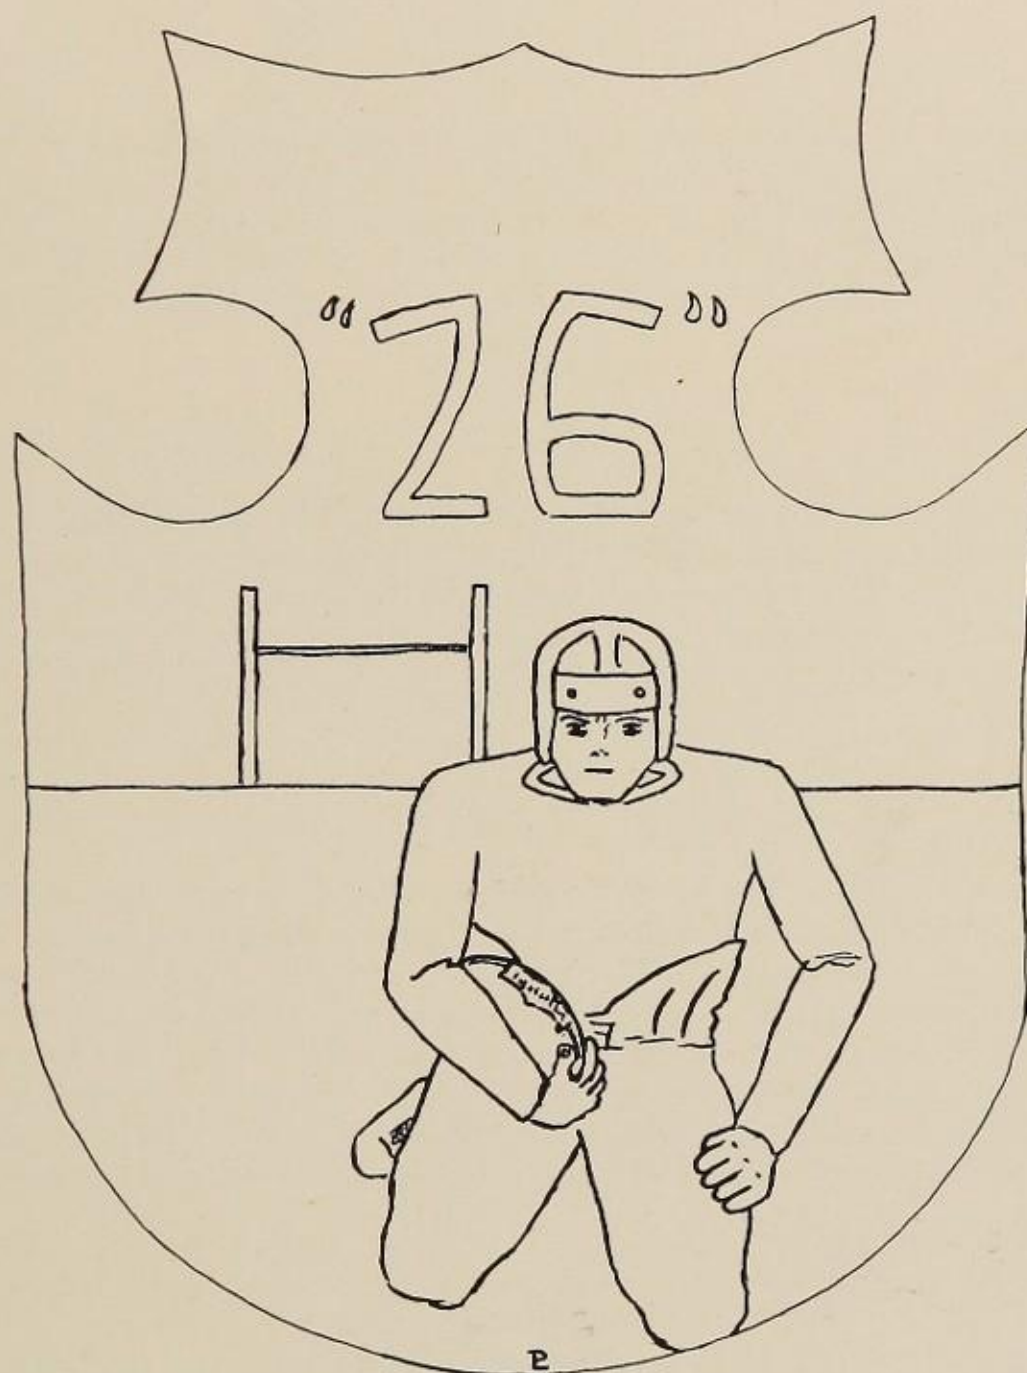

Dixon High School's annual Football Banquet was held at the "Y", December 12, 1925. With Fred Hofmann as toastmaster, the following program was carried out:

Cornet Solo	George Sproul
Toast to Team	Mary Hughes
Response	Gus Bondi
Music	High School Girls
Team Work	Mr. Potter
"Don't fumble the Ball"	Mr. Cully
Address	Mr. I. C. Uteritz,
(Assistant football coach at the University of Wisconsin and former All-American quarterback.)

Coach Bowers presented fourteen fellows with "D's". A manager's letter was given to Carl Fisher for his efficient work in managing the team. In behalf of the team, Captain Gus Bondi presented to Coaches Bowers and Cully, tokens of appreciation for what these two men had done for the squad. Harry Wienman was given the honor of captaining the 1926 squad. After the program, a dance was given at the South Side School for those attending the banquet.

ATHLETICS

FOOTBALL

THE SEASON

7 - 0

On September 26, we motored to Belvidere for our first game. We had been defeated by them for two consecutive years. The team resolved that it was time for the Purple and White to take revenge for these two defeats. The men worked hard, but were unable to score, until the fourth quarter, when Wienman picked up a fumble, and raced thirty yards for the only touchdown of the game.

48 - 0

The next game was on October 3 with a team that Dixon had never played. Geneseo came to Dixon determined that they should not lose to a team that they had never before met, but they had forgotten to reckon with the fighting spirit of the D. H. S. Improved by the previous game, Dixon outclassed and outplayed the opponent by running and fighting its way to an overwhelming victory of 48-0.

7 - 0

On an ideal football day, Dixon went to Mendota and defeated them by a score of 7-0. Mendota, which was our first conference game, had a record of defeating some very good teams. The players struggled back and forth until the second quarter when McReynolds broke loose for a fifty-five yard run and a touchdown. This ended the scoring for the first half. When the whistle blew for the start of the second half, the team went into the game determined to add to their score. Mendota also tightened their defense and it became impossible for the Purple and White to score. The game ended with a 7-0 victory.

70 - 0

On October 17, Polo came to Dixon to battle with the Purple and White. In the first quarter Polo showed resistance, and Dixon was only able to score one touchdown. However, in the remainder of the game Polo gave way to the furious attack of D. H. S., and we were able to run at will for the ten touchdowns. The second team men were used for a major part of the last half.

The first real test of the team came on October 24, when we invaded Sterling. Sterling had a record of not being beaten on their own field for several years and the team had made it their aim to overthrow this tradition. The game was played on a muddy field in a drenching rain, but this did not keep the loyal backers of the team from demonstrating their "pep". It was nearly impossible to hang on to the ball, making it very dangerous for either team not to play the ball safe. After battling back and forth, Sterling, on a blocked punt, scored a safety which gave them a lead of 2-0 as the half ended. From the beginning to the end of the second half, Dixon had the edge on the "Blue and Gold". In the third quarter after the ball had been worked down to within fifteen yards of their goal, Johnson was called back and kicked a perfect place kick from the twenty-eight yard line. This ended the scoring. Although Sterling threw all caution to the winds, they could not penetrate the line of the D. H. S. The outstanding playing besides Johnson's place kick was the punting of G. McNicol who took the team out of danger many times by this ability. This was the first time Dixon had defeated Sterling in six years and the second in fifteen years. It marked our second conference victory.

On the day of the Rochelle game there was a blinding blizzard; the snow was several inches deep upon the field, but this did not lower the spirit of the teams.

The game started and in the first few minutes Rochelle threatened us by a blocked kick but the line held until Dixon was able to punt out of danger. It was nearly impossible to hang onto the ball, making progress very dangerous as both teams played the ball safe. The first half ended 0-0.

In the second half Dixon went back determined to win, but the uncertainty of the footing was against the team. They threatened several times but were unable to score although Dixon had the ball in the opponent's territory throughout the second half, they lacked the punch to put over a score.

At last came the great game when the only two undefeated teams in the conference were to clash on November 1. These two elevens were Dixon and Rock Falls. Since the winner of this was the probable winner of the Rock River Conference, it meant a great deal to both teams.

The night before the game, a pep meeting was held in the South Side High School, when the whole student body turned out to pep up and give added spirit to the men.

The time for the game had come, and the teams lined up, both with an intensive desire to win. The whistle blew and the game was on, each team using all its knowledge of football. It became a terrific game, the men putting all they had into it. Each team fought hard to get over the opposing goal, but the first three-quarters ended without a score. The last quarter Dixon opened up with a passing attack and the ball was placed on the fifteen yard line. A place kick was tried, missing by a narrow margin, but there were still four minutes to play. Rock Falls punted to our forty yard line where we used an aerial attack taking the ball to the twelve yard line. Time out was called, with fifty-two seconds to play. Johnson was called back for a place kick. The ball was passed and Rock Falls rushed to break the kick; but the Dixon line held and not a Green and Black man was allowed to pass. The kick was a perfect placement which Johnson's toe had put between the bars. In the last few seconds, Rock Falls tried frantically to score but without success. The whistle blew, with the ball and the game in our possession.

27 - 0

The last conference game was with Mt. Morris. This was the game which actually decided the Championship of the Conference.

Dixon kicked off to Mt. Morris who spent three downs crashing our line. Then they punted to the twenty yard line. "Wink" took the ball on a perfect end run with wonderful interference and dashed eighty-five yards for the first score of the game. On the very first play, Dixon had the ball. The score was then 7-0.

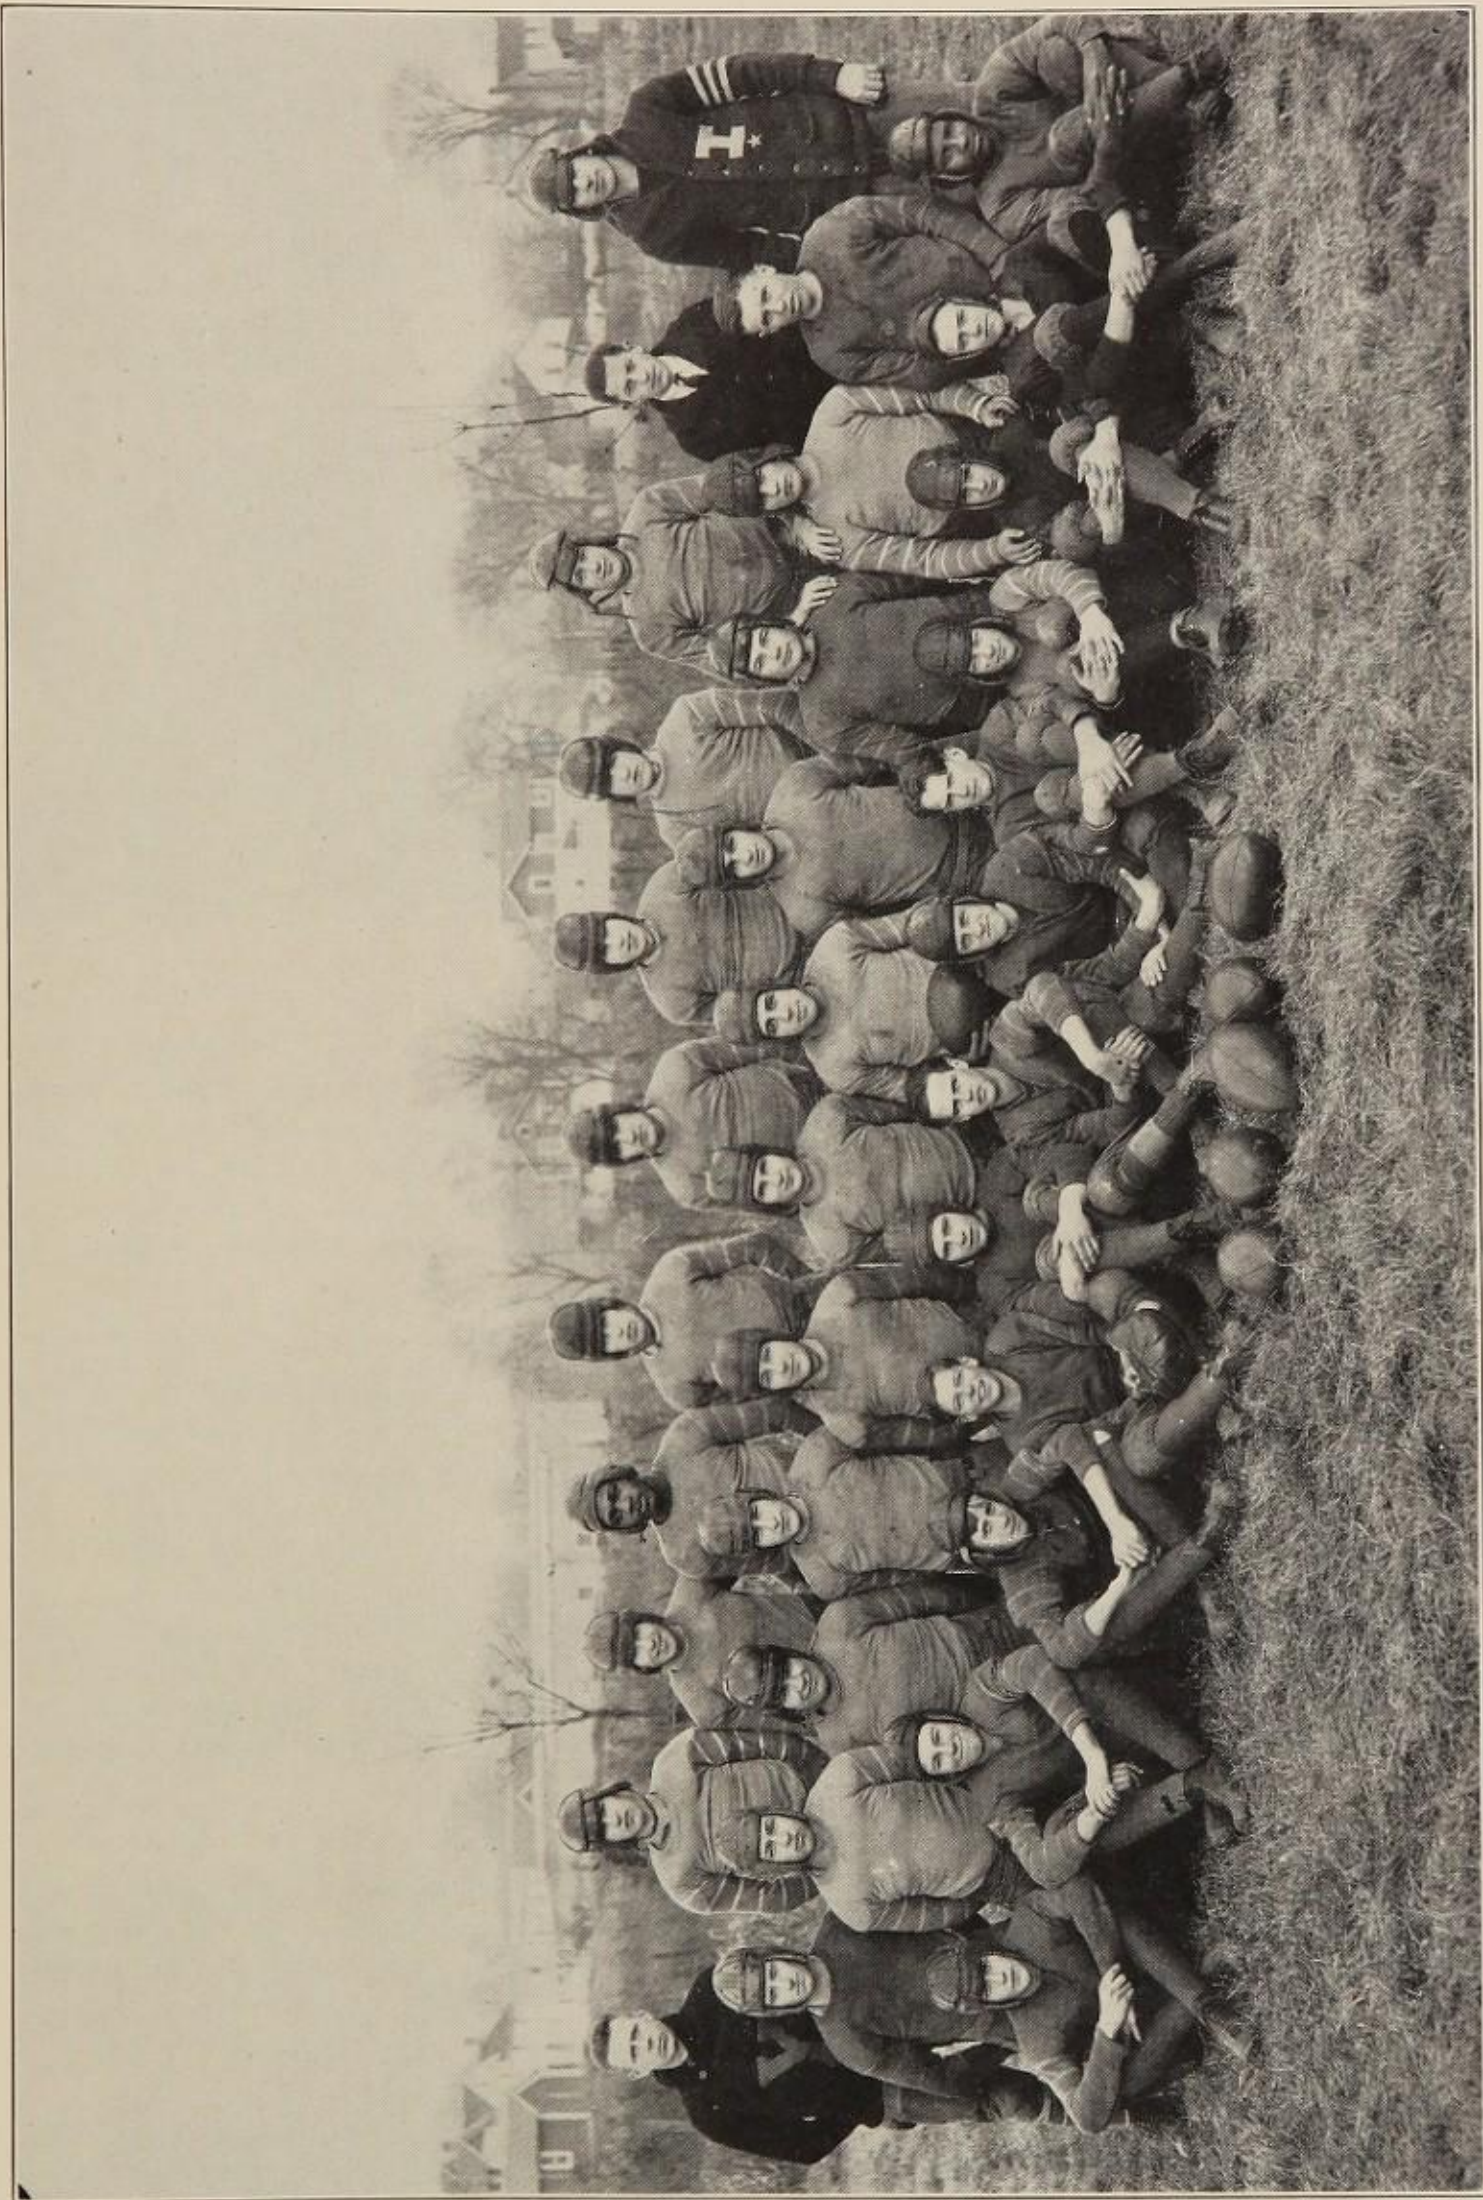

Bowers sent in several of the seconds to replace the regulars. They proved more than Mt. Morris could stand, and the score at the half was 20-0.

In the second half with nearly the entire second team in the game, they scored another touchdown and the game ended 27-0.

13 - 0

Then came Thanksgiving and the football game between the two old rivals, Dixon and Sterling. The only prophecy that could be made about the Turkey Day game was that it was sure to be very close. But the team after going through the season up to the last game without a defeat did not intend to let Sterling come up and win from us.

In the first quarter, the two teams battled back and forth, but neither team threatened. In the second quarter Dixon got the ball on their twenty-five yard line and opened up an aerial attack which placed the ball on Sterling's twenty-five yard line. Then McReynolds took the ball around left end with perfect interference and went for a touchdown. This ended the scoring. In the third quarter Dixon threatened several times, but lacked the power to put the ball over for another score. In the fourth quarter Sterling opened up with a passing attack, placing the ball on our three yard line. Then they attempted another pass, but it was intercepted by Keyes on the five yard line. He ran ninety-five yards for the final score of the game. Johnson missed the goal making the score 13-0. Sterling tried to score in the remaining few minutes but was unable to even threaten.

GUS BONDI

Captain

Gus fulfilled to the utmost his responsibility as captain of a Champion team. Gus always kept his men in good spirits and did more than his share to keep up the old D. H. S. fight. He was chosen as all conference tackle, and his opponents concede to him the honor of being the hardest hitting lineman ever produced by Dixon High. We will lose Gus by graduation and he will leave a big hole in Dixon's line.

HARRY WIENMAN

Harry was a very dependable center and tackle. He could always be relied upon to keep the opponents from going through him. As he has another year and is captain-elect, he should be one of the outstanding linemen of next year's football team.

GORDON McNICOL

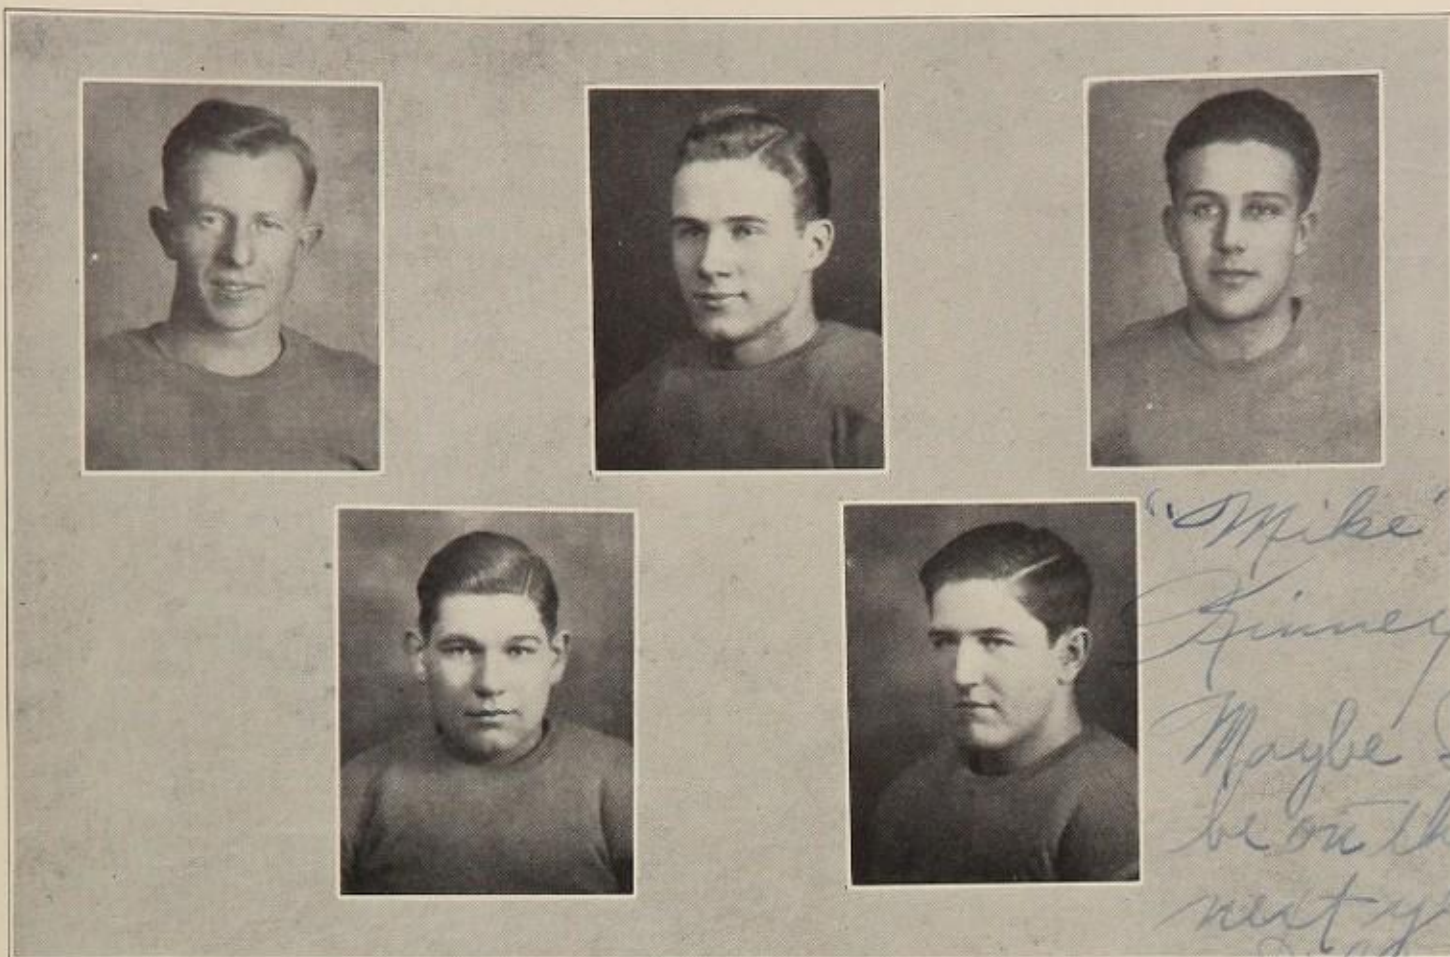

"Mac" was a versatile runner. He hit the line hard and made a good man for sliding around the corners on off-tackle plays. He has a good toe for punting and is always watching the ball. He is no doubt one of the best fullbacks turned out of Dixon. Gordon will be missed a great deal next year because he is graduating.

FRANK KELLAR

Frank playing his second year of football for D. H. S. proved to be one of the hardest hitting men of the line. Very little ground was made through his position. He will be back next year in the lineup and should prove one of the best guards turned out of the D. H. S.

RICHARD McNICOL

"Dick" was a backfield man with great ability. He could sense the weak spots in the opposing line and make use of them. He was small, but made up for it in fighting spirit. He has two more years for the D. H. S. and should form the nucleus for next year's backfield as he is the only varsity backfield man back.

HAROLD COSS

"Barney" has been one of the old "stand bys" at end, having played that position for three years. As all good players he played his best game this year. He was exceptionally good on defense. His wing position will be hard to fill next year.

CHARLES KEYES

"Chuck" playing his first year of football for the D. H. S. was a field general of marked ability for a high school team. He could run, pass, or kick, with equal ability. He was always alert, watching the opponents for their weak spots. Graduation takes him from next year's line-up.

WILLIAM JOHNSON

"The man with a million-dollar toe" fittingly describes "Bill". Time after time he was called upon to bring that old right foot of his into service. As well as being a wonderful place kicker he was a tackler of extraordinary ability. Very little ground was made around his end and the opponents always found his position a hard one to get through. But his days of service are over in D. H. S., for he graduates.

LEO MILLER

"Fat", one of our heaviest linemen could always be depended to hold his part of the line. He gave all that was in him in every game. He is only a Sophomore so has two more years to battle for the D. H. S. and next year should be a guard of marked ability.

MIKE KINNEY

Mike was a very dependable center. He passed the ball with great accuracy giving the backfield added confidence. He was the smallest member of the line, but this did not keep him from breaking up center plays and harassing the opposing center. Mike has another year for the D. H. S.

NEIL REAGAN

"Moon" playing at end, was a good man at receiving passes. He could always be counted upon to take care of his end of the line as he was always on the alert for plays. He will be missed from the D. H. S. line-up next year as he graduates.

WINSTON McREYNOLDS

"Wink" has been the outstanding man for the D. H. S. backfield during the past three years. He is the fastest man that the school has ever produced, as well as being a catcher of forward passes. He could always be counted upon for runs of the sensational type. His loss will be greatly felt by the future teams of the D. H. S.

REINHOLD KERST

"Buns" is a man who has developed into one of the best linemen ever put out by the D. H. S. He was a hard player, always giving all that he had for the team. He mixed in all plays and could usually be depended upon to break them up. The opposing teams found his one of the toughest places to get through. He also answers the roll call of graduation.

GEORGE O'MALLEY

O'Malley, our "Irish" halfback, playing his second year of football, showed flashes of ability at different times during the season. He could run the ends and hit the line with versatility and could be counted on for his share of gains.

CARL FISHER

There is one person included in a football squad that receives very little credit for the work he does.

This year we were very fortunate in having Carl Fisher as our manager. He was continually working for the welfare of the team. He was one of the best managers the D. H. S. ever had, and future teams will have to look far and wide before they find one to equal the manager of the football squad of "'25".

SECOND TEAM

The most important and essential thing to a good first team is a good second team. This year Dixon had a good steady second team. They gave the first team such hard and well played scrimmages that many times an ordinary spectator could hardly distinguish between the teams. If you want to know the real importance of a good second team ask a coach that has a good second team and he will tell you in detail, as mentioned above Coaches Bowers and Cully will vouch for this and a great deal more. Another thing to remember is that most first team men get their start on the second team, so take your hat off to the seconds.

THE HALL OF FAME

The Hall of Fame was founded to commemorate the achievements of distinguished athletes of Dixon High School, and to be a means whereby the standards, principles, and ideals of our school might be raised.

The entire corridor on the first floor of the High School in both the North and South side building is reserved for this Hall of Fame. The group pictures of every athletic team are to be hung therein, also the trophies won by the teams for the school placed there. The athlete who has won a letter three times in one branch of athletics or has won a letter in every branch of athletics offered throughout the year, is entitled to a place in the Hall of Fame. An enlarged picture of the athlete in the uniform of the sport in which he has won his letters, is placed there with record of his work.

Those men who have the honor of a place in the Hall of Fame are:

BASKETBALL

BASKETBALL 1925-1926

DIXON vs POLO

The basketball season was successfully ushered in on January 8, when Dixon beat Polo to the tune of 16-11. The game was clean and fast at all times but Bower's boys had the edge. The team was all dressed up in their new uniforms—trunks of purple with a white belt and a white border, jerseys all purple with DIXON in white on the chest and white border on neck and arm holes. This outfit was topped off with purple sweat pants having "zippers" and shirts to match the jerseys.

DIXON vs. MORRISON

Friday the fifteenth the team journeyed to Morrison. A good company of Dixon rooters were there, and all of Morrison attended the game. Dixon was ahead, four to three at the first quarter and the half ended 7-7. The teams were very evenly matched; at no time during the second half was either team more than one goal in the lead. The outcome was not determined until the last thirty seconds of play, when Johnson made a basket and put the score 14-13 with D. H. S. on top. The work of Dixon's guards was exceptionally good.

DIXON vs. MT. MORRIS

This game was equally as thrilling as the Morrison game but the outcome was not as favorable. The boys from Mt. Morris took the lead in the first half but the score was close throughout. In the last quarter Bondi started a rally by sinking a lone one but it was too late—Mt. Morris won by a score of 16 to 14 but they had to fight their hardest to keep old Dixon down.

DIXON vs. STERLING

On January 22nd Sterling came to Dixon seeking revenge for two football defeats. When the game started Sterling held first place in the conference with 1000%. The game was interesting but seemed to lack the characteristic Dixon-Sterling fight. Dixon was never in danger of defeat and held Sterling to a single basket. The other 8 points were scored on free throws. When the end came a large crowd of Sterling rooters were sent home with the sad tale of a 22 to 10 defeat.

DIXON vs. ROCHELLE

The team drove to Rochelle on Saturday after giving Sterling a drubbing the night before. Although the weather was stormy many of Dixon's loyal fans accompanied the team. After the boys got used to Rochelle's large gym the going was good, for Dixon. The contest was hotter than the 15 to 7 score suggests. Our guards, Bondi and McReynolds, were kept busy all the time and did much to secure a victory for D. H. S. Wienman, our long center, caged the most points for Dixon.

DIXON vs. MT. MORRIS

Dixon lost the lead in the conference when Mt. Morris won a 33 to 14 game at Mt. Morris College gym. Although Dixon was never ahead they kept up the old Purple and White fight until the last gun was shot.

DIXON vs. ROCHELLE

Rochelle came to Dixon to even up for their former defeat. The game was Dixon's until the last minute when Rochelle came up and tied the score 14 to 14. In the three minute over-time period following Rochelle scored a field goal and took the game 16 to 14.

DIXON vs. ROCK FALLS

On the night following the Rochelle game Dixon went to Rock Falls to play. During the first half the score was decidedly in favor of Rock Falls. The second half was a different story. The Green and Black were entirely outplayed but Dixon's spurt came a little too late. The game ended 24 to 20 against Dixon.

DIXON vs. POLO

This game was a decisive victory for Dixon. After the boys found their places on the floor (which is smaller than Dixon's "cracker box") they scored at will. The third quarter was played by the second team alone. They managed to hold Polo to three field goals. The regulars appeared again in the last quarter and finished the game with 31 points to Polo's 14.

DIXON vs. ROCK FALLS

Rock Falls came to play in our attic on the 19th of February. This game was one of the cleanest and hardest ever fought in Dixon's gym. Only five personal fouls were made by both sides during the entire game. Rock Falls took home 25 points and left but 18 to Dixon.

DIXON vs. STERLING

All Dixon-Sterling contests are battles and this game was no exception. Both teams were playing their last conference game and put all they had into it. The score was never close, being 12 to 1 at the half and 16 to 8 at the finish. Kennedy was in fine form; he made 10 of the 16 points. McReynolds played a good game at guard and had the ball a good part of the time.

DISTRICT TOURNAMENT

Dixon drew a bye for the first round of the tournament but lost to Mendota 17 to 20. Dixon led at the half 7 to 3, but the second half the Mendota boys hit the basket. Mendota later lost to Rock Falls and won from Manlius thus securing third place in the tournament. Rock Falls then lost to Morrison in the finals, 29 to 21 giving Morrison the championship and Rock Falls second place. Mendota received the sportsmanship cup offered by Sterling.

BASKETBALL MEN

EARL LARKIN

Captain

Captain Larkin proved to be an able leader for the team and by his excellent playing set an example for his team-mates. He was always on his toes from the time of the first whistle until the game ended. It would be well for succeeding captains to remember his hard playing and fine sportsmanship. He will be lost by graduation.

WILLIAM JOHNSON

Bill was one of the North Side players on the team, and was the famous "Place Kicker" from the football team. He always played the game hard and was a cool, consistent player that could be used in the forward or center position. He could always be counted on for his share of the points. He will not be back next year as we lose him by graduation.

WINSTON McREYNOLDS

"Wink" was one of the fastest guards in the Conference. He could take the ball off the bankboard with great ease. His dribbling was useful on large floors for bringing the ball down within shooting distance for the forwards. He had a deceptive pass which baffled the opponents when they tried to intercept his passes. He will not be back next year also being lost by graduation.

HARRY WIENMAN

Wienman, our tall center was a consistent player throughout the season. He always fought the game hard and could always be counted upon for his share of points. On account of his height, he was very good on the defense, this making it easier for him to intercept the passes of the opponents. Having one more year to play for the D. H. S. he should develop into one of the best centers of the D. H. S.

JOHN KENNEDY

"Herbie" is captain-elect for next season, and promises to be one of the best forwards produced in D. H. S. John was always in the best of condition and gave all. He has the enviable record of scoring more points than any other individual on the team.

GUS BONDI

Gus was known among other teams (and the scrubs) for his fighting spirit. He played guard and at all times played hard and fast. What he lacked in height he made up in agility and pep. Gus graduates this year and the team will lose a reliable guard.

MICHAEL KINNEY

"Mike" our manager, is one of the reasons why the team was on a playing standard with the rest of the schools in the Conference. He worked hard all year always striving to keep the team in condition. He was one of the best Basketball managers the D. H. S. ever had.

THE SECONDS

Dixon's lightweights were a fast aggregation. Although most of the teams that they played outweighed them, they made the fine record of going through the season without a defeat. Sterling, Rochelle, Ashton and Lee Center were some of their victims. The greater part of this team was taken from the Freshman and Sophomore classes and they deserve much credit for the part they had in training the regulars. Most of these fellows will be back next year to help make a winning team. The personnel of the team is as follows: Hofmann, Joyce, Blackburn, Schertner, Gertes, Padgett, Brown and Dockery.

TRACK

The invitation meet at Mt. Morris came first. This was won by Savanna in spite of the opposition presented by Freeport, Rockford and other large schools. "Cy" Winebrenner came through for third place in the half mile and the quarter, making Dixon's only points for that day.

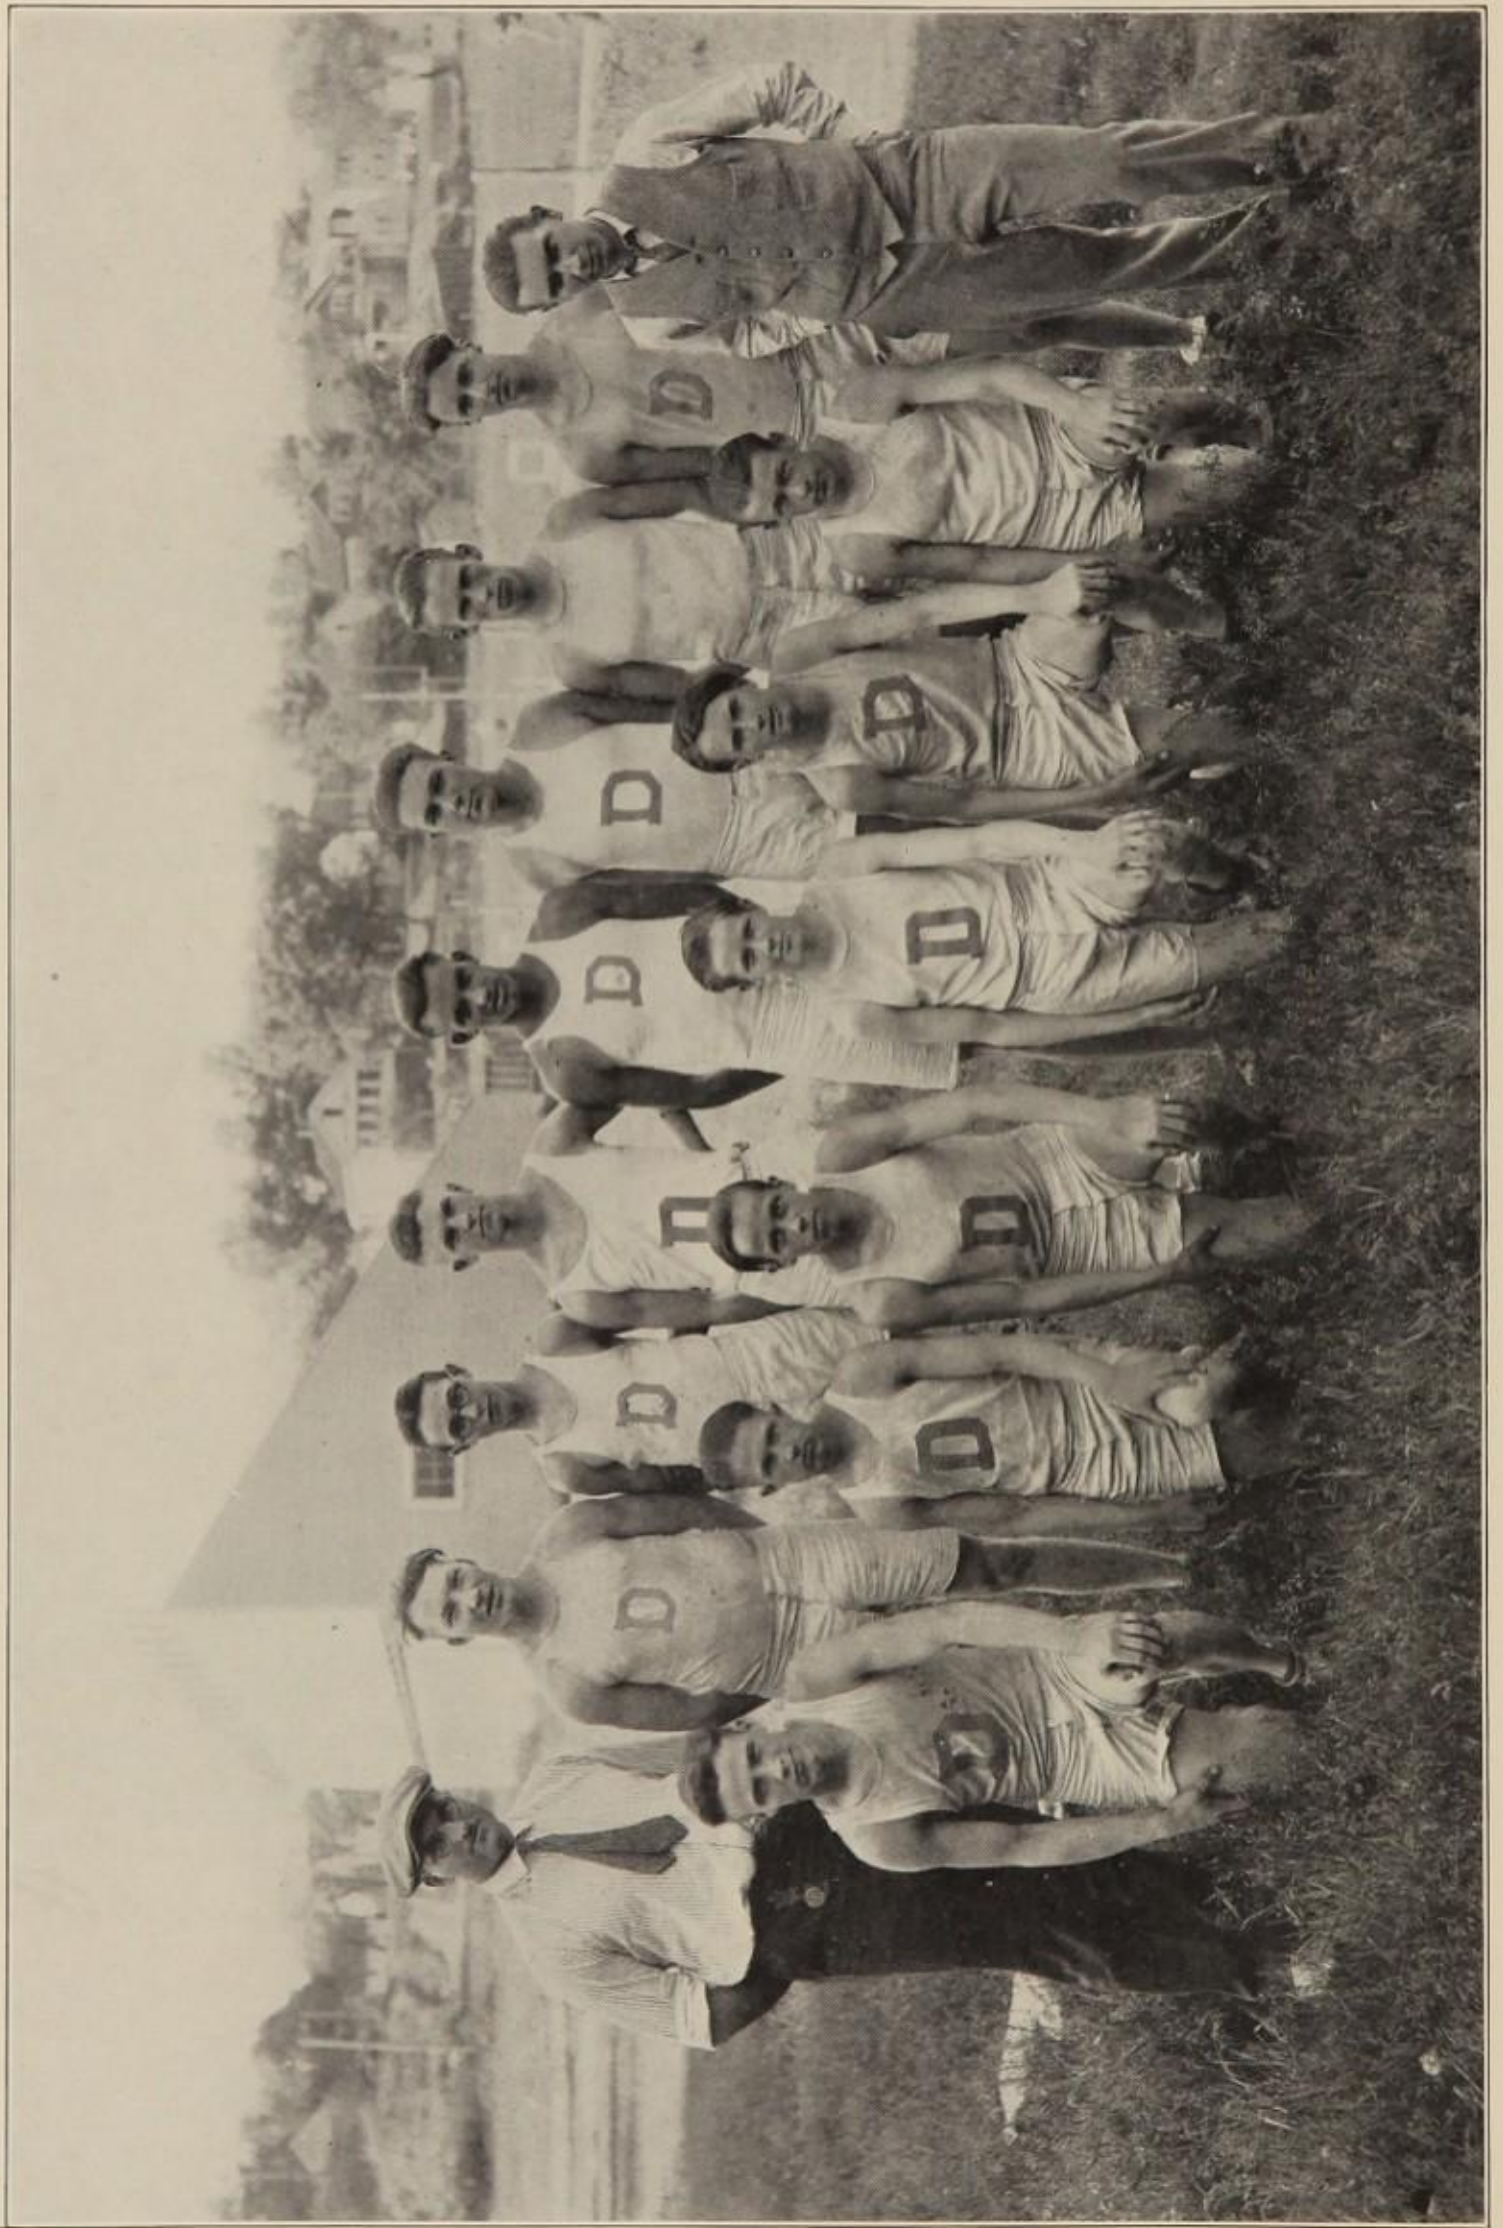

The following Saturday Dixon accepted an invitation to the big meet at Freeport. "Cy" again scored Dixon's only points, getting third in the quarter mile. Dixon's relay team made a creditable showing in taking third place against some stiff opposition. "Cy", Raymond, Beede, and "Wink" ran on the relay team.

Dixon did not show up so well at the Sterling interscholastic meet. Johnson got third in the discus and was the only Dixon man to place. The meet was won by Shannon with 30 points. Shannon had but two men who did all their scoring. These men deserve much credit.

The Rock River Conference meet held here was won by Mendota, Sterling was second and Rock Falls, who was expected to win, came in third. Dixon came in fifth with ten points. "Cy" took second in 440, McNicol second in the javelin, Johnson second in the discus and tied for second in the pole vault. Paul Jones, of Freeport, an I. A. C. man, gave an exhibition in the broad jump and the pole vault. He went over the bar at 12 feet four inches in the pole vault.

The last meet of the year was the dual meet at Sterling which they won, 78½ to 48½. The following Dixon men placed in this meet: Winebrenner—first, in 440 and first in low hurdles; Beede—second in 440 dash; Keyes—first in pole vault; Johnson—first in discus and second in shot; Groth—third in shot; Flaningam—tied for first in high jump; Hofmann—second in high jump; Rogers—third in javelin; Raymond—tied for second in broad jump.

TRACK MEN

EARL WINEBRENNER

440 and 880

"Cy" ran a good race and found few men who could beat him in the quarter. He was the only point getter for Dixon on several occasions and should be very valuable in the future.

LAWRENCE BEEDE

Sprints

"Bud" is a hard worker and is developing speed. He runs a strong race in the 440 and has two more seasons to run for D. H. S.

OLIVER ROGERS

Mile and Javelin

"Ollie" is another Soph. who is gaining fame on the track and field. He has the necessary determination and great things are expected of him next year.

CHARLES KEYES

Pole Vault

"Chuck" is the captain-elect and will make a good leader for the 1926 squad. He will, no doubt, be taking in the medals this year in the pole vault and be the source of many points for Dixon.

CLARENCE GROTH

Discus and Shot

"Tony" was a good man at the weights and worked hard for what he got. He graduates this year and we shall miss him, also his wit and hard work.

WAKELEY FLANINGAM

High Jump

"Wake" surprised everyone by showing them that even if he was small, he could surely jump. He will be back next year and should be a record breaking jumper.

DONALD HUNT

Mile and 880

Hunt was one of our gritty distance runners. He practiced faithfully and got results. He has one more year to run for Dixon and will likely get his share of the points.

WILLIAM JOHNSON

Discus and Shot

"Bill" was the logical choice for captain for this year. He always gave all that he had to the team. He was always to be counted upon for his share of the points this making him a valuable man to the team.

COACH A. C. BOWERS

Coach Bowers has rightfully earned his reputation in athletic circles, not only in Dixon but in all towns and schools with which we have had athletic relations as a fine fellow and a wonderful coach. Much credit is due him for the winning of the conference championship in Football and the showing made in Basketball.

At every stage of the game he stands for fair play. His motto is to win, but to do it fairly; to lose is preferable to a foul win.

Win or lose he always stuck by his men and they in turn could always find a coach, friend, and companion in him. It would be hard to find anyone equal in coaching, teaching, managing to our own A. C. Bowers.

COACH B. O. CULLY

A new member was added to Dixon's coaching staff this year. Mr. Cully came to us from Flora, Illinois, where he had been coaching for three years. He graduated from Illinois College where, besides his scholastic attainments, he participated in football, and track. In his Senior year he was selected as quarterback and captain of the all star team of the "Little Nineteen Conference".

Illinois College also gives Mr. Cully credit for holding the record in the running broad jump so he is expected to do much for the track team.

As a coach and teacher, Mr. Cully gets results. He and Mr. Bowers expended much hard work in order to train the football squad into a championship team.

A FORTUNATE YOUTH

The family's gathered in the home
Around the fireplace scorchin',
The stalwart son is wont to roam
In search of better fortune.

Of course his old Granddad was there,
To render him good advice,
Young brother and sis didn't seem to care;
Thought anything would suffice.

Granddad said, "Throw up a feather,
And wherever it should go,
Follow that way and find out whether
Or not good fortunes grow."

The industrious youth objected to this;
The wind would interfere,
Then, though uninvited, little sis,
Said, "I have a great idear.

Just take a little common pin,
And throw it in the air,
Wherever it says, you will win,
And find good fortune there."

A pin was thrown into the air,
"But," explained big brother,
"I shall not go anywhere;
It heads one way and points the other."

THE VOICE OF THE SECOND STRINGER

Maybe you think it's easy, maybe you think it's fun,
When the weather is chilly and breezy, to get out in the cold and run.
Or to flop with a thud, in a puddle of mud, when you're trying to fall on the ball.
And be boo-hoed and hissed, just because you have missed—
When you're out for the team in the fall.

Maybe you like to be straight armed, or kicked in the head with a cleat.
Maybe you like to be "scraped on" by dozens of pounding feet.
Or be thrown for a loss by big husky's toss, who is sure of his place on the team.
And who tries to make certain, that you'll get the curtain, just 'cause you're a rookie—and green.

But if we're to be champs of the valley, someone must take all the buffs.
Forgetting the hoots and the sallys, that the team may do its stuff.
'Tho I skid on my chin I'll get up with a grin, like the pins in a bowling alley.
What's the diff? Take your biff. We're champs of old Rock
River Valley.

LITERARY

MARY ELLEN'S FELON

The Prince of Naper had issued a paper
All around the countryside
A wife he wished with fingers taper
From across the River Clyde.

Mary Ellen was a McClellan
A Scotch lass of deepest dye.
One evening when the sun was sinking low
Prince Naper came riding by.

He saw the bonnie lass with fingers pointed
Rode straight across the pike
Said he'd return in a year and a day
And asked her to be his wife.

Mary Ellen grew a felon
Had it several days
Doc Mellon tried to reduce the swellin'
By the use of curds and whey.

But her finger, it grew longer
Than the rest of her fingers fair
No longer was it of perfect taper
And Mary Ellen wore a very worried air.

"My finger has lost its tapered beauty;"
Cried Mary thinking of her Scottish Prince
If only Doctor Mellon when he reduced the swellin'
Had used curds instead of quince.

But the finger it grew longer
In spite of Mary Ellen's tears,
One night she stood on the River Clyde
And thought of the coming years.

As she lingered here upon the bank,
She decided to end her life.
So the poor Prince was at a loss
When he came to claim his wife.

A SNOWMAN'S CHRISTMAS

The Fairies built a snowman and left him on a hill,
He was made with a shout and a laugh, and a will
To shape him up right and out do the other fellow;
And they gave him a chuckle that was deep and rich and mellow.
They gave him every thing complete, he was really quite a man;
They gave him all their presents but a summer's coat of tan.
T'was the night before Christmas he stood on that hill,
T'wasn't accounted for; he should be there still?
He and the wide world spent their Christmas together,
They whispered and nodded in the Christmacy weather,
"I'm sorry for those who don't have Christmas at all."
Then all merry Nature answered his call
To rejoice and dance in exuberant glee,
And go with Mr. Snowman on his Xmas spree.
He thought long and hard of something to eat
He thought long and hard of the world's greatest treat,
He patted his stomach, gave a shake of his head
"Oh I'll have this grand feast when the world is in bed."
Along about midnight, down through the sky
Old St. Nick came a riding with a big Christmas pie,
He gave a low chuckle—shook like a bowlful of jelly
Said he, "I've everything in it, even a pinch of sasperilli."
Oh really, our Snowman had the surprise of his life!
He ate it, with, an icicle fork, and a knife.
A fine combination, from icicle radishes
To snow-hand made raisins and big frosted cabbages.
He ate it with relish; "My, what nourishing food!
Ahem! Now I think, it quite fitted my mood."
He thanked Santa kindly, said, "Please, call again."
Santa laughed as he answered, "If I can find you, my man."

ON THE CHARGE OF THE SENIOR BRIGADE

Zeros to right of them.
U-slips to left of them.
Exams in front of them
 Volleyed and thundered;
Stormed at with rule and bell,
Boldly they wrote and well,
Into the volley of Learning,
 Wrote the Senior hundred.

When can their glory fade?
Of the wild grades they made!
 All the teachers wondered.
Honour the grades they made,
Honour the Senior Brigade
 Noble one hundred.

AN INTERVIEW WITH SHAKESPEARE

I came around a corner suddenly, and bumped into Shakespeare, or, to be exact, Shakespeare's shade. He stared at me, amazed.

"Who are you? What are you doing here? You are not a shade!" he exclaimed when he had regained his poise.

I answered that Pluto had allowed me to enter Hades, as interviewer, on the condition that when I published my book I would use a full length portrait of him as a frontispiece. Shakespeare became interested immediately and said that he would give me an interview at once if I would place it first in the book.

"Do you have any sort of social gatherings here?" I asked.

"There are all kinds of entertainment. I am going to Robert Burn's birthday party to-night."

"How do you reckon time here?" I inquired.

"We don't. For example. I was born in 1564, and left the other world back in 1616, yet I consider myself fifty two years old. As a matter of fact, this isn't even the date of Burn's birthday, but there is going to be a full moon tonight, so he decided to have the party now. No one down here keeps track of dates except Don Juan."

I ignored this attempt at humor by turning to more serious matters.

"What do you think of the attempt to prove that Francis Bacon wrote all your works?"

"Do people still believe that? It's an outrage, it's preposterous. Of course he didn't write my plays. It's simply an attempt to get publicity that he couldn't gain by his own works."

"What about that poaching story concerning you?"

Shakespeare laughed and winked knowingly.

"Oh, that's a different tale. But there is Sappho calling me, so I must leave you."

"Just a moment, please. Why did you leave your second best bedstead to your wife, and not your best one?"

But the great writer had disappeared without answering my question.

MANNERS IN THE CLASS ROOM

Classroom manners are not, as a usual thing, "a joy forever"; neither are they a "thing of beauty". Look at the students who sprawl over two, and even three, seats. Listen to the hum and buzz of conversation. Even those who secretly pride themselves on their courtesy will whisper in the classroom when someone else is reciting. When one strains his ears in vain to hear what the one reciting has to say, is it any wonder that these lapses from courtesy occur? There is also the student who chews gum in class. Is it fair to one's fellow classmates to be an object of scornful amusement that attracts their attention? Can one pay strict attention if the one who is reciting punctuates every three or four words with a frantic, audible chew on a wad of ill-smelling gum? These things are not so bad in the assembly room, but in the classroom "let us have peace".

IMPRESSIONS ON VISITING DAY

O, me! O, my! To think that in just about ten minutes our trial by jury would begin! Feverishly, I pawed my books in a vain attempt to learn why Alexander the Great won the battle at Shiloh. In walked somebody. Horrors! Was it my own unwelcomed parent? I didn't have the crust to look up to find out, but hearing a groan nearby, and a remark, I knew it was some other fellow's folks.

The minutes dragged on; I was in a fainting trance. The tardy bell clanged its announcement and I actually jumped two feet in the air.

The teacher took her place with applause. She opened her grade book, (the little red one you all are familiar with) and taking her pencil in hand, with the red lead pointing to the paper, propounded the following question: "Discuss coinage; monetary history, and why is a Mugwump."

I reviewed my last meal and hoped for immunity; another name was called and a neighbor had to flunk. The teacher looked about her in a unfeigned, positive glee. My name was pronounced and along with it came a question that I really think sent Diogenes looking for an honest man. I glanced at the time and to my unutterable joy, only forty seconds of the period remained! They say faint heart ne'er won fair lady, so I "ahemmed" and coughed and cleared my throat and just as I had calculated, the bell rang! The teacher looked disappointed but contented herself by the following assignment: "Read half a volume of 'Humboldt's Philosophy', take thirty pages of text, and if you have nothing else to do, glance over 'Annals of History' by Gobblewock.

I had nothing to cry about for two Assembly naps awaited me!

SNOW FALL

There dropt from heaven one clear cold night.
A blanket of purest snow.
Slowly, softly it floated down,
Toward our barren earth below.

Thus silently into our lives
Unheralded troubles fall.
Slowly, softly they steal in,
Into the lives of all.

But do not shrink from them, my friend,
For that is the common way
Slowly, softly ward them off,
And you'll make a man some day.

PLAYING THE GAME

There's a breathless hush in the gym tonight.
Ten to make and the game to win;
A swerving ball and a dazzling light—
A half to play and the last man in!
Oh, it's not for the sake of a purple "D",
Nor the selfish hope of a season's fame—
But his captain's hand on his shoulder smote,
"Play up! Play up! and play the game!"

The team comes off with rousing cheers,
Tired and hot—but the game is theirs.
The words of the captain had saved their name,
They had played up and won the game.
These are the words that year by year,
While on the lawn the school still sets,
Everyone of her teams must hear
And none that hears them will e'er forget.
These they all with willing mind
Bear through the games like a torch in flame,
And winning, say to the team—to be,
"Play up! Play up! and play the game!"

LATIN AGAINST LUCILLE

The first semester was ended—almost. The exams still remained to be passed and then all would be easy sailing. Ah, if I could only pass Latin, the rest would be simple. The question was, "Would I flunk or not?"

"Goodby and good luck," called out Mother as I left.

I dashed into Latin at about a half a minute of one, minus nearly everything I needed—including my wits, which seemed to have suddenly taken leave of me.

The battle was on! The questions looked grimly up at me, as if saying, "Just try and get me!"

The first question had been conquered. Likewise the second and third. I absolutely could not translate the fourth question.

"I knew I'd make you come down to earth," it seemed to say as it peeped impishly up at me.

Just then Miss P. came to save the day with a bit of advice. It was not what she said, but how she said it that helped me.

"Ah Casey, did you finish in time?" I seemed to hear from the distance. I came out of my daze with a bump.

The combat was over!

"What was the outcome?" I wondered. Dashing down to the Master of All Latin, I wondered what my fate would be.

"One off! Six! Three! Five!"

I could almost feel myself being weighed in the balance. Would I be found wanting?

Eighty-one!! I had won!

At last I knew how great generals must feel at the close of a great battle.

Veni! Vidi! Vici!

OUR NEIGHBOR'S TROUBLE MAKER

The only real intelligent member of our next-door neighbor's family is the parrot. He repeats word for word what he hears and does not add his own interpretation. This is one way he scores over Mrs. Talkalot. Of course his voice is a little bit different than the rest because "it's cracked up to be".

There have been many exciting times in the neighborhood since the parrot uttered "Polly wants a cracker" the first words he spoke after being brought into the neighbor's "peaceful" family. Indeed many times since, the nearby neighbors have wished "to crack the parrot one", when on a warm night in summer an unearthly song would break upon the stillness—and the parrot would ramble on, often joined by the stray cat that loves Polly so that it would love to crush her in its embraces.

One day when Susie started singing "Holy, Holy, Holy—" the parrot caught on to the way she sang the piece and proudly walked up stairs to Jim who was just fixing his tie for as he claimed "the hundreth time" and started in his mocking way to sing the song. Of course this made Jim more crazy and he muttered some exclamation that did not miss the parrot's attention.

The singing master had arrived to give Susie another lesson when the parrot descended the stairs. As Mrs. Talkalot entered the room to make a good impression and show off the family to best advantage, the parrot began. Such oaths as the parrot was shrieking caused everyone to gasp! Then with the same "no body at home" expression on her face he continued "How about that nice girl going with the music teacher—don't you think he's fresh—don't you think he's fresh—" the last words went soaring high. Everyone became embarrassed. Then to make everything worse—Jim not having heard the confusion nor knowing that the teacher was there, slid down the banister with such a reckless speed that his long legs hit the man in such a way that he was pushed flat against the wall of the hall.

So between Jim and the parrot the whole Talkalot family was kept in one fit of chills and embarrassments after another. By the time the parrot was sold and Jim sent to college the Talkalots had become professional excuse and alibi makers.

Of course one would have to give the parrot credit for coming in always at the wrong time and always saying the wrong thing.

Although scientist's say that parrots have no brains, in this case he seemed to be the smartest one in the family.

A THRILLING MOMENT

It was a decision of great importance. On it hinged much future happiness, not only for myself, but for several others. And it was up to me to make it.

The situation had been viewed from all angles, not once, but many times. There had already been too much delay. It was time to act. A decision, however, could not be reached. I called into council several advisors whose views on the subject served not to help, but to hinder. They were welcomed, however, as I could not decide alone.

The toss of a coin was considered as a means of settling the difficulty, but was rejected as being too suggestive of levity for this momentous question.

The whole situation was reviewed once more, but with no better results than had already been attained. By this time, even those who would profit by my decision were becoming impatient; the suspense was terrible; it was necessary to act at once.

"Oh, well," said I at last, "I guess I had better take this one."

THE BURNING OF TORQUILSTONE

This is station X Y Z, Ashby De La Zouche, England, broadcasting the reports of the burning of Torquilstone.

The besiegers and the defenders are preparing for battle. Fighting suddenly begins! The whizzing of arrows from the besiegers and the throwing of missiles from the defendants are interrupted by unearthly cries and groans from the dying men.

Front de Boeuf heads the defenders. A fight with man to man is now carried on. The Black Knight is overthrown—but no—he jumps up and fights with renewed vigor. After blow on blow, Front de Boeuf falls! His men drag him into the castle.

Hurrah! the besiegers have won the outwork. The defenders destroy the bridge across the moat but a raft is built by Cedric. At last the Black Knight gains entrance into the castle. De Bracy is taken prisoner.

Why is everyone shouting? What is the cause of all the tumult? Torquilstone is burning! How will all the prisoners ever escape? Everyone will be burned up! Cedric and the Black Knight shout, "They must be saved!"

The Templar, who is an enemy of the Saxon prisoners, hurries to the room where Rebecca is and rushes off with her.

Ivanhoe will surely perish! He is injured and alone. The smoke of the fire is smothering. The flames come nearer and nearer. Someone rushes into Ivanhoe's room and carries him to safety. His rescuer is the Black Knight.

Cedric saves Rowena from the horrors of the expected death. He rushes to rescue Athelstane and Wamba but they have already escaped. Where have they gone? Athelstane and Wamba have fled to the court of the castle. The fierce and haughty Templar is already there. A combat ensues. Athelstane is wounded and probably dead. The Templar rushes away from this bloody scene with Rebecca.

The fire is spreading rapidly now from one part of the castle to another. Ulrica appears on one of the burning turrets! Her gray hair flies back from her uncovered head. Vengeance against the Normans gleams in her wild looking eyes. She chants a barbarous song with her wild, shrieking voice. Everyone shudders with fear and wonder as the flames rise around Ulrica. Her maniac figure is visible for a long time. She tosses and swings her arms wildly.

Crash! The turret gives away and Ulrica perishes in the flames.

The whole castle is soon burned. Torquilstone is no more.

Station X Y Z, Ashby De La Zouche, England, has just broadcasted the disastrous and horrible event of the burning of Torquilstone and is now signing off.

LAST THANKSGIVING'S GOOSE

The goose is done! The goose is done! echoed all over the house. Hey c'mere kids! She's gonna take it out Oh-h-h Boy! Looka that goose, will ya!

These were the eager exclamations of the younger members of the family as Mother drew our Thanksgiving goose from the oven. Such a smell issued! The steam rose in a cloud, the flavory, appetizing odor filling the room. There it lay, a bubbling, boiling, sizzling miracle of roast goose, the flesh roasted a delectable golden brown, crisp and crackling and done to a turn. It was stuffed nearly to bursting with heaps and gobs of delicious smoking hot sage dressing which seeped and oozed from the goose at every point. "There never was a goose with so much goose on it" Grandpa declared as his carving knife sunk deep into the tender breast. The slices fell cleanly and neatly away from the knife, and good enough to fairly melt in your mouth. And that giblet gravy! Rich brown and dripping juicy, it was a savory temptation hard to resist and a fit companion for the noble goose.

THOUGHTS OF A STOP SIGNAL

Perhaps you do not realize the elevated position I occupy. But my dear boys and girls, if it were not for me, perhaps some of you who arrive breathlessly in your classrooms just as the tardy bell rings would be taking tests every night in the week. Just by flashing my red signal on, I induce almost every automobilist to stop.

Perhaps you really do not think that I have my "off days" like other folks; but I do. For instance, when that young John Speedermore comes into sight, I turn a violent red. Honestly I do, I just feel so angry. And when that old grouch of a Peter Roadhog heaves in sight, I first leave on my green light; then, aggravatingly, I change it to yellow just as he tries to clear the space in a half second.

And yet, I have my good side too. When I see a little kiddie whom I think will be late for school, I switch on my red light to let him pass. I know what those tardy tests are, indeed I do!

And say, what do you think I heard yesterday?

Two men were driving along and stopped before me. I heard one of them say, "Do you know, Bill, I think those stop signals are mighty good things. Whats more, I believe that they should have one for those little E. C. Smith children."

I hastily turned on my green light. I couldn't let them see me laughing could I? Then, I burst right out with merriment. Those poor little E. C. Smith children!

EL BANDIDO

I am a bandit and a brave man am I
I am a bandit and death I defy,
I'm the toast of all Spain, a toreador too,
Oh, I'm a real bandit, real he man all through.
Aha! there's been blood on my hand more than once;
In my brave band, we own not a dunce,
Their all light and all quick, quite fearful to see,
There's not any monster more awful than we.
We wear scarlet cloaks, and a hat with a feather
And sally forth in all kinds of weather;
Around mountain top and huge giant boulder,
We all venture forth; shoulder to shoulder.
We never show mercy toward the rich and the mighty,
If we did, everyone would believe we were flighty.
Oh no, we kill every rich man on sight,
Then escape with the treasure in the dead of the night.
We're bloody, I tell you, show no mercy at all—
(Sh! let me whisper this,)
But if ever we hear a weak maiden call!
We're first on the spot to rescue her gallantly,
With a bow and adieus, we're off quite nonchalantly.

THANATOPSIS MODERNIZED

To him who in the love of his fliver holds
Communion with her invisible forms, she speaks
A various language; for his gayer hours
She has a smooth pulsating throb, and pep
And no flat tires: and she glides
Into his darker musings with squeeks
And terrible knocks, that steal away
His joy, ere he is aware. When thoughts
Of that last bitter ride come to your mind
And sadden you, and sad images
Of the last stop, and hugs and kisses
And lovely moonlight, and the narrow seat
Make thee to shudder and grow sick at heart
Go forth, to the garage, and list
To the mechanic teachings, of thy Ford.

ESSAY ON SPRING FEVERS

Someone has said—Lowell I believe, “What is so rare as a day in June”. This quotation may serve perfectly in its own place, which is generally in the middle of January when such days are indeed rare, but there is a much more appropriate one namely, “What are so rare as the days of spring?”

Has anyone—any place—at any time—other than a spring day, or course,—felt a fever? Perhaps one that heralds a cold sometimes or maybe when someone of the family begin telling the distant cousins, when you are present, just what you did or did not do. Of course there are all kinds of fevers; Scarlet—which is extremely bad; the kind that comes with the measles—which is far worse—and Spring Fever, which cannot be beaten.

Spring fever in itself is not serious, but the after effects are at times lasting and disagreeable. The classification of fevers is: school, the characteristics of which are dreamy far away gaze, an extreme unwillingness to study, and a general lack of desire for anything except air, violets, and green grass. The victims are generally pupils although even teachers are not immune. The after effects are, in the case of extremely bad cases, a poor semester grade.

The second variety belongs mainly to mothers. This is the kind that sweeps everyone off his feet in the house. The usual signs consist of vacuums, water, window, brushes, and energy for cleaning. The after effect is a sparkling rather painty-smelling dwelling and a warning not to bring the earth into the house.

Yes, fevers are many and different, but the only one to be really feared is the good old spring species, because it comes every year while the others visit you only once.

OUR HORATIUS

Coach Eades of Sterling,
And all the students swore
That the great school at Dixon
Should taste defeat once more.
By the students he swore it,
And named Thanksgiving Day,
And bade the faculty ride forth,
East and west and south and north,
To summon his array.

East and west and south and north
The faculty ride fast.
Everyone in the busy town
Has heard the teachers' blasts.
Shame on the false supporter
Who lingers in his home,
When Coach Eades of Sterling
Is out to bring the bacon home.

It stands in the school at Dixon,
Plain for all folks to see,
A statue of “Wink” McReynolds,
Bending upon one knee.
And underneath is written,
In letters of purple and white
How cleverly he turned the tide
And made Eades sorry that night.

TROUBLE WITH A TURKEY GOBBLER

During the summer that I was five years old, I went with my mother for a visit to her old home on the farm.

One day I was playing in the sawdust heap, when I looked up and saw my Grandmother's largest and fiercest gobbler eyeing me from a short distance off.

I was terrorized. I grabbed a little pail that I had been playing with and hurled it at the gobbler with all the force and accuracy that I could command. It struck him right on his puffed up old chest.

With one wild gobble he leapt for me, and with one wild yell I leapt for the nearby wood pile.

The pile was steep but fear had lent me wings. I fairly flew to the top of it, not soon enough, however, to escape a sharp pinch on the leg.

The gobbler was too fat to come up after me, but he circled around the wood-pile with a look in his eye that said, "Never mind, young lady, you can't stay up there forever, you know!"

I sat on top the wood pile and cried lustily. Suddenly I noticed that my leg was bleeding where the gobbler had pinched me. Then I turned my face toward the heavens and howled harder than ever.

This brought results, for mother soon appeared with a broom in hand and chased the gobbler away.

From that day unto this, I have never thrown a pail, or anything else, at a warlike turkey gobbler.

THE MODERN ARROW AND THE SONG

I threw my hat into the air,
It fell to earth, I knew not where;
For, so swiftly "Wink" flew, the sight
Could not follow my hat in its flight.

I breathed a song into the air,
It fell to earth I knew then not where;
For what "cop" has sight so keen and strong
But can follow the flight of a song.

Long, long afterward, in the oaks,
I found my hat, still unbroke;
And the song, from beginning to end,
I found again in the heart of a friend.

A. H., '26.

Eleanor H.—"Yes mother dear."
Mrs. Hennessey—"Well how come you brought home a cane, when you left with an umbrella?"

With looks of burning love;

Vera Mae—"Why can't you?"

An honest speeder had just hit a dog and had returned to retrieve his damages if possible. He looked at the dog a minute and addressed Gordon who was looking at his gun.

Motorist—"Looks as if I'd killed your dog."

Gordon (sobbing)—"Certainly looks that way."

Motorist—"Very valuable dog?"

Gordon—"Not very."

Motorist (Feeling sorry for Gordon)—"Will $10 be enough?"

Gordon—"I guess so."

Motorist—"Sorry to have broken up your hunt." (And hands Gordon a crisp $10 bill.)

Gordon—"Thanks, I wasn't going hunting—just going out in the woods to shoot the dog."

A young woman tripped up to the counter where a new clerk was assorting music, and in her sweetest tones asked, "Have you 'Kissed Me By Moonlight'?"

The clerk turned around at her and answered—"It must have been Bob, over there at the other counter, I've only been here a week."

Mr. Frazer—"Correct this sentence: 'Before any damage could be done, the fire was put out by the volunteer fire department'."

John K.—"The fire was put out before any damage could be done by the volunteer fire department."

"Here Paige," said his Uncle to him who was helping him drive a bunch of cattle, "hold this cow a minute will you?"

"No!" answered Paige, "I don't mind being a director in this company, but I'm darned if I want to be a stockholder."

"Maybe," says Arthur, "eatin' onions is one of the secrets of long life and health, but how you gonna keep it a secret?"

Carl—"Thou art the sunshine of my soul. Thou drivest away the murky clouds of despair. Thou wilt always reign in my heart. My love for thee will never grow cold. Wilt thou—"

Ethel S.—"Say, what is this, a proposal—or a weather report?"

WHAT A FOOTBALL THINKS ABOUT DURING A GAME

So many players handle me that I ought to be called a handball.

I think they laced me too tight in the back.

I'm just like a woman—it takes a good line to stop me.

I wish the referee would stop paving me around; he's got warts on his left hand, and they tickle.

I sure am a skin you love to touch.

These fellows on the teams are always kicking about something, and I'm the something that's being kicked about.

I may get passed, but as long as I don't pass out I'm satisfied. I seem to be the royal bouncer on this field, but the trouble is I never know which way I'm going to bounce.

Many a woman would like to be hugged as often as I am.

What a nice pig I turned out to be.

Ted Hughes—"Well they raise cane in Cuba."

Mr. Bowers—"O, that's nothing. That can be raised right here in this room."

Mrs. White (In Biology)—"Why have flies such delicate wings?"

Leo M.—"They stay in the house so much."

Harold Coss—"After all, fools make life amusing. When all the fools are dead I don't want to be alive."

Jane M.—"Don't worry you won't be."

The favorite stanza of Merritt Schrock:

I love its pleasant gurgle,
I love its pleasant flow
I love to wind my mouth up
And I love to hear it go.

Miss Scott (In Civics)—"If the electoral votes were counted in January following the election in November and the president elect should die who would be president?"

There was much discussion and argument and then:

Miss Scott said—"What would they do if he died?"

Sylvan L.—"They would bury him of course."

Mr. J. Miller—"Son, what does this 60 on your report card mean?"

We saw a horse shy at an automobile the other day. Wonder where he's been the last fifteen years.

Irate Father—"I'll teach you to make love to my daughter."

Lyle P.—"As long a one as I could take, Sir."

Harry F.—"I have an idea!"

Dorothy B.—"Be good to it, it's in a strange place."

Gold Diggers are not necessarily miners (minors).

Bill Johnston—"I hear your ancestors came over in the Mayflower."

Jo Whitish—"They did."

Bill J.—"It's a good thing they did. I hear the immigration laws are more strict now."

Jean Wallace—"I hear your brother didn't graduate from D. H. S."

Bill Rhodes—"No, he didn't."

Jean W.—"Why?"

Bill R.—"He went to Amboy High School."

Jane—"Well how do you like our English teacher?"
Rachel—"O, she raves if she finds a period upside down."

Mr. Bowers (In Chem.)—"I think I'll take some hydrochloric acid and—"
Wally C.—"That wouldn't be a bad idea."

Edward O.—"Were the Latin questions hard?"
Ray W.—"No, but the answers were."

Otto D.—"Say where is Lynn?"
Harold C.—"He went fishing."
Otto—"Well, when he gets through tell him to drop in."

Mrs. White (In Biology)—"All you students be sure to get bugs before the next class period."

Harry W.—"I have a standing record of a hundred yards in ten flat."
Wink—"That's nothin', I've done it in nine and three-fifths."
Harry W.—"I know, but I made mine with my army hob nails."

Buns (In Chem.)—"Where is the asthetic acid?"
Merritt—"I'm as smart as you, dunce."

Mr. Bowers (In Chem.)—"We just have a minute left, I want you people to take paper and pencil and write all you know about Chemistry as far as we've gone."

Wick—"Where have you been?"
Doc—"To the cemetery."
Wick—"Is anyone dead?"
Doc—"Sure, everyone of them."

Carl Fisher (Calling from the Book Store)—"Miss Scott I am sorry but they have nothing but the reversed edition."

Clark Duffy (Making comparison of resources of North and South at outbreak of Civil War)—"The South in 1860 had only 7,000 miles of railroads while the North had 27,000 miles besides 8,000 miles of underground railroads."

When Harold Marks first became a Freshman he thought that:
Four exemptions would be easy to get.
That History was simple.
That he would make the first team.
That Latin was easy.
That he would never be kept after school.
That gum was not to be chewed in class.
That girls were not to be teased.
That the floor was not a place for waste paper.
That he would be the man of many a girl's heart.

THE MERCHANTS

When the publication of this Annual was undertaken it was necessary to obtain sufficient funds to carry on the work. Our business managers started on a tour of the Dixon business houses, soliciting advertisements.

Then it was the public spirit that prompted our merchants to give to the Dixonian. They did it because they wanted to see the Dixonian a success.

So we ask, when you come to Dixon, visit our merchants. We guarantee that they will show you the greatest courtesy and give you the same consideration that was shown toward the Dixonian.

A Grapefruit is only a Lemon That Took a Chance

Life would be much sweeter for all of us if we could always see and then would make use of our opportunities just as did the lemon. Of course we lose our tempers occasionally and look sour when we might look pleasant. That is human nature, but it is not necessary to plod through life with a sour look when a bit of REAL Health Service will remove your trouble and bring the smile you like to see.

A SOCIAL ERROR

Yesterday upon the street,
I state this for a fact.
A friend of mine I chanced to meet,
Whose eye was newly blacked.

I was polite at first, and spoke
Of other matters minor,
And then I asked, "Who was the block
Who handed you that shiner?"

"I cannot tell," he shook his head,
"And yet I must confess,
I'd like to met the man who said,
A woman's 'no' means 'yes'."

FINIS

William Rhodes 27 Bill "No more room here."

Finis! Only a few of our readers realize what that one word means to the Dixonian Staff.

We have been haunted for months by the vague, shadowy spirit of the Dixonian. Through all these months we have planned, worked, and schemed to make a reality of this vagueness. There were times when it was very dark and we could not see through the gloom about us. It was at these times when a light from one of the students, Hintz, Jahn & Ollier, or Rogers Printing Co. would bring back the light. The help and cooperation of our English instructors, Miss Maroe and Mr. Frazer, were of great benefit to us, also the support of the merchants who make our advertising section a possibility. The guiding hand of our class advisors Mr. Lancaster and Mr. Kietzman has been very essential in the making of this book. We are very grateful to these people who have helped us through the gloom and darkness.

We are rid of the spirit of the Dixonian. But yet we do not rest. Only when this Dixonian is placed in your hands and receives your approval can we feel it is a success.

THE STAFF.
